Britain Hopes To Bring End To Arms Race

Plans to Sound Out
Other Powers
On Proposal

CONFAB IS AIM

U. S. May be Invited if Progress Toward Limitation Is Made

London —(AP)— Britain intends to sound out the big powers on the possibility of halting the tremendous arms race which Prime Minister Chamberlain has declared can end only in bankruptcy for Europe if continued at its present rate.

London papers were unanimous this morning in reporting with optimism the projected disarmament efforts.

Political quarters in this connection attached increased importance to the official trade mission which takes R. S. Hudson, secretary for overseas trade, to Berlin next week. Some thought Hudson might gain support in Berlin for the idea of at least a "token cut" in armaments.

The Daily Mail said that "Mr. Chamberlain is planning to call a conference of big powers to consider calling a halt to the arms race in Europe, possibly before the end of the summer."

Might Include U. S.
"Limitation may be aimed at aerial weapons in the first instance. . . . If progress could be made in that direction the disarmament discussions might be widened to include world powers, including the United States."

British belief that there was a chance for a successful disarmament venture apparently was based on this reasoning:

That Premier Mussolini's expected claims upon France for colonial adjustment would be more moderate than Italian press agitation has indicated.

That the end of the Spanish civil war would remove the most dangerous immediate threat to European peace.

That Germany admits she is feeling a severe economic pinch because of her tremendous arms expenditures.

British leaders were impressed by Chancellor Hitler's rechristening speech on Jan. 30, in which he said he had no territorial designs on France and Britain, and that Germany "must export or die."

At that time Hitler asserted the nation must do everything within human power to strengthen our national defenses and blamed Britain and France for the international arms burden.

Britain is spending $8,000,000 a day in her $910,000,000 five-year arms program and apparently feels that the weight of those figures is making an impression in Berlin and Rome.

Starts Arguments in Telephone Rates Case

Madison —(AP)— Harold M. Wilkie, Madison, special counsel for the public service commission, began arguments before the supreme court today in the Wisconsin Telephone company rate case.

Wilkie spoke against the ruling of Circuit Judge A. C. Hoppmann vacating two commission orders against the company for a 10 per cent temporary exchange rate reduction of $1,000,000 for one year beginning August, 1934, and an 8 per cent permanent cut of $800,000 annually from May, 1936.

The company itself is appealing from Judge Hoppmann's continuance of a commission reduction of the company's annual depreciation rate to an amount of $700,000 a year.

Some say the art of conversation is a thing of the past, that groups must resort to artificial stimulation in order to keep talk from lagging and the evening from growing dull. Even women, who have the reputation for loquacity, must talk in terms of "double, vulnerable and pass" — or if their talents don't run to bridge, the baby's latest formula always furnishes good conversational copy. If you want to test your prowess as a conversationalist just find a willing friend and spend a few hours talking. ## Tanks are Used Against Reds in Madrid Uprising

'Most' Communist Nests
At Spanish Capital
Reported Destroyed

Madrid —(AP)— Mechanized army units summoned to the aid of General Jose Miaja's government today smashed their way with tanks into Plaza Manuel Becerra, strategic square on the east side of Madrid, crushing communist revolters in their path.

There was no indication immediately of the number of casualties but it was announced officially that 14,000 rebellious soldiers had surrendered since yesterday.

General Miaja's supporters asserted they had uprooted "most" of the communist nests which had been holding out, including the hiding places of communist snipers who had been firing at the approaching loyal troops.

(The communique on the number who surrendered was one of the first indications from Madrid of the scope of the uprising which started Monday.)

Hendaye, France —(AP)— The Spanish communist revolt against the peace-seeking government of General Jose Miaja was reported today to have spread from the Madrid zone to five other centers of republican Spain while die-hard snipers still harassed the capital.

Confused reports reaching the border indicated the four-day red

Ring Accused of Defrauding Firm

Took Thousands From Dairy Company at Beloit, State Charges

Beleit —(AP)— Operations of a ring which the state charges defrauded the Merrick Dairy company of thousands of dollars were revealed today in testimony at the preliminary hearing of Andrew J. Finley, 49-year-old Beleit tavernkeeper.

Finley, one of four defendants, is charged with fraudulently obtaining $5,700 from the company.

Elmer Lee Yeager, 55, of Winona, Minn., former employee of the dairy, testified before Municipal Judge Chester H. Christensen that the members of the ring issued false cream slips for which they received cashed checks drawn on the dairy company.

Police Detective Herbert Schultz accused Yeager of issuing the slips while employed by the dairy. Schultz said that Joseph C. Rolph, 63, a farmer living near Beleit, turned the slips in for payment and that Finley cashed them or had them cashed.

Yeager charged with fraudulently obtaining $5,000, and Rolph, charged with obtaining $500, are awaiting hearing.

The fourth defendant, Leslie Spencer, 37, of South Beleit, a former employee of the Beleit Dairy company, predecessor of the Merrick company, was arrested today. He was charged with a $5,000 fraud. The police said he admitted obtaining $1,500 prior to November of 1937. He pleaded guilty when arraigned. Judgment was deferred.

Bill Would Require Daily Recitation of Oath of Allegiance

Madison —(AP)— Assemblyman Schmitz, (Rep.) Germantown, introduced today a bill requiring schools to display the American flag and school children to recite the oath of allegiance daily.

It provides the oath be recited at least once every school day and the flag be displayed in all assembly and classrooms.

The bill fixes a penalty of $25 fine against teachers and school officials for violations.

Assemblyman Westphal, (Rep.) Milwaukee, offered a bill to transfer duties of distributing automobile and drivers licenses from the state to county governments.

Another Westphal bill would require a motorist who injures a dog or other animal to stop and give assistance.

A measure directed at Governor Heil in his appointment of 59 colonels was introduced by Assemblyman Rubin, (Prog.) Milwaukee. It limits honorary appointments to one for each congressional district and requires the appointees to have United States military experience.

Czech Troops Sent to Slovakia After Premier and Two Other Cabinet Ministers are Ousted

Prague, Czechoslovakia —(AP)— President Hacha dismissed the premier and two other ministers of Slovakia today and sent Czech troops into the autonomous territory to check radical elements demanding full independence from the Prague government.

Reports from Bratislava said that Czech police and troops had fired at Slovak separatist demonstrators, killing one member of the Slovak people's party guard and wounding three others.

The family feud between the provincial and central governments had smoldered since the Slovaks won autonomy after the Munich partition last September.

It flamed into the open last night in anti-Czech demonstrations at Bratislava, Slovak capital.

There had been reports during the last week that Slovak extremists were advocating secession, including one report that they had tried and failed to win German backing.

Deny Vienna Report
Authorities here denied a report broadcast by a Vienna radio station that Slovak Premier Joseph Tiso, ousted suddenly this morning by President Hacha, had protested to Reichsfuehrer Hitler that his dismissal was unconstitutional.

Tiso has been placed under police supervision and informed quarters said it was impossible for him to have communicated with the German chancellor.

The two Slovak cabinet members ousted with him, Economics Minister Jan Pruzinski and Labor Minister Ferdinand Durchansky, also were under police supervision although none yet had been arrested formally.

German Position
Andor Henke, German charge d'affaires here, was reliably reported to have informed Dr. Frantisek Chvalkovsky, foreign minister of the federated government, that Germany regarded the Slovakia issue as purely Czechoslovakia's domestic concern.

Martin Sokol, chairman of the Slovak parliament, reached Prague from Bratislava and consulted immediately with Czechoslovak Premier Rudolf Beran and Karl Sidor, Slovak representative in the central government.

Slovak affairs were carried on by Minister Joseph Teplinsky pending return of the newly-appointed premier, Sivak, who was called back from a journey to Rome where he was going for the coronation of Pope Pius XII.

Two Men Arrested in Burglary at DePere

DePere —(AP)— Informed two men had carried out a safe containing $250 in funds of the Godfrey grocery. DePere police set out in pursuit early today, following tracks of a sled on which the strongbox was hauled.

The tracks led to the Fox river. There, said Chief William Deppe, the officers found two men attempting to crack the safe with a sledge hammer.

One, a former inmate of the reformatory, was arrested on the spot. The other fled, disregarding several pistol shots fired by Officer Fred Dillon, but was arrested later at his home.

Mrs. Blakely and three other children fled from the two-story frame home and escaped injury.

No Change in Estimates on Relief Needs

Roosevelt Says Figure
Given in January
Still Holds Good

C I T E S S I T U A T I O N

Woodrum Thinks President Will Ask Added
150 Million

Washington —(AP)— President Roosevelt said today his original relief estimates of early January still held good.

The chief executive would not state, however, whether this meant that in a special relief message to be sent to congress either Monday or Tuesday he would insist upon a supplemental WPA appropriation for $150,000,000.

Later in the day, after Mr. Roosevelt had reiterated his relief estimates at his press conference, Representative Woodrum (D-Va.) said he thought President Roosevelt would renew his request in his message for an additional $150,000,000 for relief.

Woodrum, Chairman Taylor (D-Colo.) of the house appropriations committee, and other Democratic members of the subcommittee, which Woodrum heads, conferred with Mr. Roosevelt today.

After his group had seen Mr. Roosevelt, Woodrum said: "I think the president will send up a regular, formal budget estimate for the $150,000,000."

At his press conference, the president said current estimates of relief needs were the same now as on Jan. 3, when he decided to ask congress for $875,000,000 for relief up to July 1.

About 850,000 needy persons are now on WPA waiting lists throughout the country, Mr. Roosevelt explained. He said that this was an increase of about 100,000 over the number on the waiting list Jan. 3.

This increase, he said, was predictable and he had expected it because of economic conditions which ordinarily prevail in January and February.

As of Jan. 3, the president continued, he had expected that about 300,000 persons would be cut off relief rolls by July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

Since there are 3,650,000 either on the rolls or on waiting lists, he explained, the total as of July 1 should be about 3,550,000.

The president, meanwhile, summoned members of the house appro-

Tenure Repeal Bill Lost, 49-45

Assembly Defeats Measure After 3 Hours
Of Debate

Madison —(AP)— After debating for almost three hours, the assembly today killed the James bill repealing the teacher tenure law, 49 to 45.

James (R) Montfort, the author, declared there was a "growing resentment throughout the state against the law. He said it "seems to defeat its own purpose" because teachers who have not been required to be discharged to prevent them from obtaining it.

He said teachers' organizations are supporting inefficient teachers protected by the law, and that he was opposed to any legislation which reduces "the power of county boards and school districts."

Leading the fight against the bill, Alfonso (P) Pence, said "tenure gave the teacher the right to become a spirited citizen and an integral part of the community" because the teacher did not have to fear removal by community groups as in the past.

Defending the freedom of county boards, he challenged supporters to "bring up to us cases when county boards have been hamstringed by the tenure law."

Shimek (D) Alcomba, asserted the law prevented school boards from playing favorites.

Kennedy to be First Official Representative of President At Coronation Rites for Pope

Vatican City —(AP)— For the first time a president of the United States will be represented officially at the crowning of a pope when Pius XII on Sunday receives his triple tiara amid scenes of medieval splendor on the loggia of St. Peter's basilica.

The American ambassador to London, Joseph Kennedy, was due in Rome tomorrow as the official American representative at the ceremony which was expected to draw the largest popular crowd ever assembled in the Eternal City.

Vatican authorities expected more than 250,000 persons to jam St. Peter's piazza and open spaces beyond to witness the coronation. Forty-five thousand may sit or stand inside the vast church throughout the five-hour pontifical mass preceding the coronation.

It will be the first time in nearly 100 years that a pope has been crowned outside St. Peter's.

Want Fraternity Employees Exempt From Security Tax

College Group Spokesman Presents Brief
To House Committee

Washington —(AP)— Undergraduate spokesmen for a claimed total of 100,000 college students asked congress today to exempt student employees of fraternities and educational institutions from the social security pay roll tax.

William W. Stifler, Jr., Amherst college student representing fraternity business managers, presented a brief to the house ways and means committee asserting such an exemption would help poor students get a college education, which "in itself is the best security in old age."

Stifler's brief asserted a poll conducted by the Amherst college student newspaper showed that 34 colleges in 20 states with an enrollment of over 100,000 students favored the exemption proposed.

"The time to tax for old age pensions is after the student has finished his education and is earning his living as an active member in society," the brief states, "not while he is working his way through college."

Would Reduce Aids
At another congressional hearing, a representative of the Association of American Colleges urged the senate labor committee to exclude junior colleges and teacher training institutions from proposed federal aid to education.

"We feel," said Guy E. Snavely, executive director of the association, "that dependence on continuing handouts would tend to weaken the morale of our education leaders."

Citing the mounting public debt, Snavely said the government "might well pause" before embarking on further expenditures in this particular phase of the education field.

The fact that other pressure groups are imposing on government the use of no reason for educational fraternity to do likewise," he said.

Two other witnesses urged the committee to write "safeguards" into the proposed legislation prohibiting the use of any federal education fund by non-public schools. They were Walter R. Reed, secretary general of the supreme council, Scottish rite masons, and Benjamin Marsh of the people's lobby.

Labor Groups to Resume Parleys

Peace Conference Scheduled to be Held Tonight in New York

New York —(AP)— In a new effort to bring peace to labor, delegations of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations assembled here today for fresh negotiations tonight.

Earlier Washington conferences had brought first a proposal by John L. Lewis, CIO president, for the formation of one big new union embracing A. F. of L. CIO and the four independent and powerful railroad brotherhoods, an initial refusal by federation leaders to consider such a formula, and a subsequent decision to do so.

This agreement to make the Lewis plan at least the basis for possible discussion did not further commit the federation leadership, which was understood to have prepared proposals of its own—proposals kept secret.

For Lewis the day brought a dual duty, since he is presiding over the 16-member policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America, which is formulating demands to be presented Tuesday to bituminous coal operators of the eight-state Appalachian district expires March 31.

The resumption of the historic A. F. of L.-CIO peace conference was scheduled for 7 o'clock p. m. C.S.T. with Harry C. Bates acting as A. F. of L. chairman.

The accomplishment of anything beyond the merest of preliminaries was not generally regarded as probable.

Ambassador Bowers Reports to Welles

Washington —(AP)— Ambassador Claude G. Bowers, United States envoy to Spain, reported today to Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, on the situation in Spain.

Bowers recalled to Washington for report and consultation, reached the capital last night. Asked today what his plans were, he said he had no specific ones and was at the disposal of the state department.

Bowers came to the United States from St. Jean de Luz, France, on the Spanish border, where he has been for two and a half years, or shortly after the Spanish civil war broke out.

NAMED TO BOARD

Madison —(AP)— Governor Heil announced the appointment today of Mrs. Lila Burton (above), Eagle, to the state board of control, succeeding Mrs. Katherine Sullivan, Kaukauna, whose term expired Feb. 1. The governor said the appointment was for the duration of the time that the present law affecting the board of control is in effect.

Mrs. Sullivan was appointed by former Governor Albert Schmiedeman. Governor Heil has named one other board member, Frank Klode, Milwaukee, and also may name a successor to Colonel John J. Hannan, chairman, whose term has expired.

Senator Demands National Vote on War Declaration

Bone Thinks Congress
Would Yield to Forces
Of Propaganda

Washington —(AP)— Senator Bone (D-Wash.) asserted today that "no force stands between the man in the White House and plunging this country into a bloody war." Because of that, he said, the people should vote on any declaration of war.

Bone, arguing before the senate naval committee in behalf of a proposed war referendum amendment to the constitution, declared that the legislative branch was "a futile instrument" in preventing war.

Congress has the constitutional right to declare war, but the Washington senator said he did not believe that constituted any barrier, because of the forces of propaganda that could be brought to bear on members of congress.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) called attention to the fact that the same forces which would exert influence on congress to declare war in a time of international crisis would be operative in any referendum.

The committee's debate was born of a suggestion from Stephen Rauschenbush, former chief investigator for the senate munitions committee, that congress set up a public commission to consult with the president on foreign policy.

Rauschenbush said there was a general lack of understanding of what the nation's foreign policy is. This question, he said, was involved in the proposal, being considered by the committee, to spend $5,000,000 for harbor improvements at Guam, a step considered in some quarters as likely to anger Japan.

At 6:15 a. m. Senator Gettelman (R) Milwaukee, began a 45 minute speech, after which he yielded the floor to Senator Peters (R), Hartford. By this time the legislators were so weary they agreed to end the filibuster and vote only on ordering the bill to third reading.

Upon reconvening at 9 o'clock a. m. the senate had to call upon Senator Paulsen (D-La.) to read a minister, to offer the customary prayer. The minister regularly assigned was not on hand.

Democratic Poll Is Ordered on Townsend Old Age Pension Plan

Washington —(AP)— A poll of Democratic congressmen on the Townsend old age pension plan was ordered today by house leaders as a possible prelude to calling it up for a vote.

The Democratic whip, Congressman Boland (D-Pa.), said his assistants would begin checking next week on sentiment for or against the scheme, which contemplates imposition of a 2 per cent tax on all transactions to pay for old age pensions up to $200 a month.

If the poll shows a sizeable majority of Democrats against the plan—and leaders believe it will—Boland said "the next logical step will be to bring the bill before the house."

House chiefs for some time have been talking of letting the Townsend measure come to the floor for a vote, minus a blessing from the committee.

Proponents of that strategy, who do not favor the bill, contend it would demonstrate inability of the plan to muster enough votes for enactment. The result, they assert, would be to shut off the flow of dimes and quarters to organizations sponsoring various old age pension plans.

Kresky Leads Pro- gressives in All- Night Oratory

RECESS VOTED

Budlong Bill's Passage
Indicated; Heil
Hears Speeches

Madison —(AP)— An all-night filibuster by a group of embattled Progressives led by Senator Michael Kresky, of Green Bay, today had blocked final legislative action on the Budlong bill to abolish the Wisconsin development authority.

Sensors were kept in the chamber from 7:30 last night until 7:45 a. m. today during which Kresky, angered by an effort to limit debate, spoke for five consecutive hours.

When a truce was reached the Republican-Democratic coalition majority ordered the bill to a third reading with an understanding no attempt would be made for immediate passage.

Within an hour after the long, weary session ended, senators were back in their seats and voted to adjourn today until 11 o'clock next Wednesday morning. The next procedure on the WDA repealer will be a vote on passage with apparent assurance that the measure will be sent to Governor Heil for signature.

Heil Sees Battle
The governor, from 10 o'clock p. m. to 2:30 a. m. personally witnessed the acrimonious battle over the "little TVA" law, enacted during the Progressive administration of 1937. During this time the filibuster was at its height.

As various senators left their seats to speak to the governor in the parlors, Nelson (P) Maple, who had the floor said he was reminded of Huey Long.

"It is evident that the governor is interested in killing this legislation (the WDA) or he wouldn't be out in the hallways calling senators out and telling them how to vote," Nelson said.

Majority representatives labeled the development authority as communist and socialist. Senator Cookley (R), Beloit, denied claims that it was a necessary aid to rural electrification, asserting REA cooperatives had flourished in other states without any WDA.

One by one Progressives took the floor until nearly all of their 11 members had spoken. When Cookley raised a point of order to prevent Kresky speaking more than twice, the Green Bay senator became angered and said: "If you don't think I can talk until tomorrow morning I'll give you a demonstration."

Begins 5-Hour Speech
Invited by the opposition to "go ahead" he launched into his five hour speech, which ended at 6:15 a. m. The senators occupied the president's chair during the filibuster and others took catnaps in their seats or in the parlor. Occasionally Progressives moved the absence of a quorum which necessitated a roll call and disturbed sleeping senators. Kresky's colleagues helped him out by asking involved questions which gave his voice a rest.

At 6:15 a. m. Senator Gettelman (R) Milwaukee, began a 45 minute speech, after which he yielded the floor to Senator Peters (R), Hartford. By this time the legislators were so weary they agreed to end the filibuster and vote only on ordering the bill to third reading.

Upon reconvening at 9 o'clock a. m. the senate had to call upon Senator Paulsen (D-La.) to read a minister, to offer the customary prayer. The minister regularly assigned was not on hand.

Kiefer Says Bill On Auto Licenses To Boost Revenue

Wants April 1 Made Permanent Deadline for Car Plates

Madison—(P)—Assemblyman Kiefer (P), Milwaukee, told the highway committee at a hearing yesterday his bill setting April 1 as the permanent deadline for auto license plates would bring in additional revenue.

He said it would save the time and cost of preparing bills extending the deadline from February, as has been the practice in recent years, and would help the motorist who has heavy expenses during the winter.

Representatives of automobile and petroleum associations supported the measure, but said May 1 would be more agreeable. They said motorists carry more expenses in winter than in spring and summer months and could purchase plates more quickly at a later date.

Many motorists place their cars in storage when the new licenses become due and the state loses large sums in gasoline taxes, they claimed.

Representatives of taxi cab companies, city officials, cab drivers and others opposed a bill by Balzer (D), West Allis, placing taxicabs under jurisdiction of the public service commission and requiring liability insurance.

Will Rewrite Bill

Glenn W. Stephens, representing the Yellow Cab company of Madison, claimed it would take the commission "four or five years" to license all cab companies in the state and the commission would have to double its staff.

Balzer said he would re-draft the bill after taking opponents' arguments "under advisement."

Assemblyman Frank Graess (R), Sturgeon Bay, urged the committee to favor a bill restoring $2,500,000 which he said the emergency board in recent years deducted from gasoline tax and license fee revenues allotted to counties, towns, villages and cities. The money would be distributed only if this year's highway receipts are higher than last year, he said.

The committee also was asked to recommend a bill, sponsored by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, setting a maximum speed limit of 25 miles an hour in cities and villages, and 35 miles in sparsely settled outlying districts.

Reports Read at Board Meeting

Routine Business Transacted by Calumet County Supervisors

Chilton—The county board of supervisors met in an adjourned session Tuesday and Wednesday. All members were present but Supervisor Peter Iversen of New Holstein, who was absent because of illness. The session was taken up with routine matters. The annual report of the county clerk for the year 1938 was read. Receipts for the year totalled $588,897.35, and expenditures totalled $588,861.36. The various committees made their reports. The committee of poor relief reported expenditures to the amount of $2,444.82.

Ralph Sims, clerk at Hotel Chilton, is ill with pneumonia and was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital in Appleton on Wednesday.

St. Margaret's Guild of the Episcopal church met in regular session in the guild hall Thursday afternoon, the hostesses being Mrs. Charles Seibelman, Mrs. David Weisen and Mrs. George Wolf.

James C. Clow, pension administrator for Calumet county, and Miss Florence Wolfel, clerk, attended the conference of the Eastern Wisconsin District of Pension Departments at Oshkosh last week.

The Safety Council of Calumet County will hold a safety meeting at the Charleston town hall Friday evening. The meeting will conclude with 10-minute programs by three rural schools and one parochial school. County Highway Commissioner Ray Jensen, who is chairman of the safety council, will talk on methods and rules for promoting safety.

Chicago—(P)—Postal Inspector Richard Purcell yesterday took into custody Sam Ray, 36, whom he charged with being a "professional lost son or lost brother."

Purcell said Ray, who was seized on a charge of mail fraud, answered advertisements of persons seeking money for transportation. The inspector said he had a police record dating back to 1917.

After he had obtained $200 from Mrs. Lillie Bennett of Stockton, Calif., who advertised for her missing son, Purcell said Ray asked for more money and Mrs. Bennett became suspicious and notified postal authorities.

Propose Law to Insure Jobs for Workers Over 40

Manufacturers Object on Ground There Is Too Much Regulation Now

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The Wisconsin Manufacturing association yesterday afternoon told a legislative labor committee that it is just as hard today for a man of twenty to get a job as it is for a man over 40, and that it is opposed "in principle" to increasing state regulation over private business and manufacturing enterprise by the passage of a law, providing penalties for employers who refuse to hire, or who discharge, persons by reason of the fact that they are more than 40 years of age.

William F. Smith of the association presented a recent survey based on reports from 15 of the largest representatives of industries in Wisconsin showing that 48.8 per cent of all their employees are over 40 years of age. That shows, he said, that Wisconsin employers are not discriminating against employees because of age. It also showed, he said, that few new jobs are opening up, because out of almost 19,000 employees, only 73 were under 20 years of age, and only 1,439 between 20 and 35.

"We realize there is a problem," the manufacturers' spokesman said. "But that problem does not lie entirely with the man over 40. It also lies with the man between 20 and 40. It is a problem of the young man, rather than the old man. The young man finds it harder to find a job sometimes than the older man."

Sponsored by Assemblyman Andrew Bleimiller of Milwaukee (P), the bill to prohibit the refusal to hire or discharge of employees over 40 and under 65 because of age is the creation of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor. Bleimiller said the bill is now before many other state legislatures, and that it has already been passed into law in Massachusetts.

Smith told the hearing committee that state manufacturers are opposed in principle to the "constant" growing regulatory powers of the state. "If we keep on going as we have in the last 30 years, every detail of our lives will soon be regulated by the state," he said.

Bleimiller's bill proposed to give the administrative authority to the state industrial commission, which could impose fines and penalties for offending employers.

A representative of a Madison department store told the committee that the proposed law would be unfair to those store owners who find that it "is good business to hire younger girls."

Smith also maintained that the present industrial commission is already too overburdened with work to enforce the proposed Bleimiller law efficiently and satisfactorily.

Hotel Strike Continues At National Capital

Washington—(P)—It is anybody's guess who will cross a picket line next in the capital. Washington social life revolved around its leading hotels, and union employees in 13 of them were still on strike today, although the hotels were operating.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who regularly refuses to cross picket lines, was out of town. The president was saved a decision on the point by cancellation of the White House correspondents' dinner at the Mayflower hotel Saturday night.

But the hotel homes of Secretaries Hull, Woodring and Wallace and Postmaster General Farley, of the cabinet, Justice Stanley Reed of the supreme court and more than 100 senators and congressmen have been picketed since Wednesday morning.

Reorganization Bill Seen as Weapon to Help Slash Costs

Madison—(P)—The economy group in congress is regarding the new government reorganization bill as a weapon to help trim the cost of government.

If this is done, it would put the effort to remodel government agencies back on the basis where Grover Cleveland tried to start it 45 years ago. He lost before he got started. Other presidents have tried

Education Trip Is Outlined for McKinley Pupils

Junior High School Students Will Tour State Institutions in May

Education through experience will be the main objective of a trip being planned for ninth grade students at McKinley Junior High school, according to Walter T. Fox, principal.

The educational tour was charted at a meeting of parents, teachers and ninth grade pupils last week at the school. The itinerary will include visits to the state prison at Waupun, the state capital at Madison, the University of Wisconsin and Madison parks.

Fox said that parents and teachers desired that "life and learning be intimately inter-related and consequently what is learned through experience is more meaningful."

The study unit on state government, penal institutions and city planning being offered ninth grade social science classes will be correlated with the excursion. Lessons in letter writing at the school also are taking on a new meaning for students because they are writing to make arrangements for the tour, Fox said.

The bookkeeping in connection with the tour is being handled by business classes and students are discussing safety and organization to avoid accidents on the tour. Parents and pupils agreed to pay half the cost of the tour and to finance the balance through a party which will be given at the school April 12. The tour will be held in May.

Lessons in thrift also are being correlated. Through a survey conducted revealed that most pupils spend enough money for non-essentials to finance a trip of this sort without sacrifice.

Training for democratic living is the second objective and it will be realized through cooperative planning and activities. Miss Betty Meyer is general chairman in charge of the enterprise.

State Agricultural Branch May Open Another Test Case To Settle Oleo Tax Dispute

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Enforcement of Wisconsin's famed excise tax on oleomargarine, much disputed, and enforced during the last three years only with extreme difficulty, was thrown into confusion again as the result of the supreme court's dictum this week that the department of agriculture and markets must bring its oleo tax cases in the lower courts before it will entertain any arguments in the matter.

The department of agriculture has been charged with enforcement of the law since its enactment in 1835. Department officials today were unable to say what steps would be taken in further court action to enforce the punitive statute.

R. M. Orchard, chief counsel for the department, said that it is likely that the department will select another test case, probably in a Fox river valley circuit court, and start the ladder of litigation all over again. He did not say when this would be done, however, and added that no plans have yet been made.

Win First Test

The department last year began a test case in the Outagamie county circuit court against an Appleton wholesaler for sale of a product claimed to be oleomargarine, and thus taxable to the extent of 15 cents a pound. In an opinion by Judge E. V. Werner, the product was declared to be taxable, although it was sold in two separate packages, and technically was not a butter substitute until mixed by the consumer.

The defendant obtained two stays of execution, according to Orchard, and indicated that he would appeal to the state supreme court for a final decision. He failed to appeal, however, so that the department was still without a final word in the definition of oleomargarine or "similar butter substitutes" covered by the law.

In the meantime scores of wholesalers and retailers refused to pay the taxes on their sales, and to apply for licenses, with the result that the department thus far this year has collected practically nothing under the law. With the supreme court's denial of a petition that it assume original jurisdiction in new cases brought by the department, Orchard explained, the department is forced to start all over again in its litigation.

At the same time, however, the opinion that the Cashman tax law

Little Chute—Seniors of St. John High school are preparing for the amateur program to be presented Friday evening, March 17, at the school auditorium. Proceeds of the program will be used to defray expenses of the publication of the 1939 yearbook of the school. Each participant must submit his or her selection one week before the date set for the program. Auditions have already started.

Contestants will be judged by a vote from the audience. While the ballots are being counted the audience will be entertained by several selections by the members of the Little Chute Community band under the direction of Bill Novotny. Members of the committee managing the affair are: Gordon Lamers, Dorothy Mae Heesacker, Paul Dercks, Eugene Haen, Eileen Vander Velden, Henry Van Grinsven. Contest committee members are: Ann Van Zeeland, Vivian Bevers, Lucille Timmers and Robert St. Aubin.

Brother Lawrence of the Jesuit order, formerly Lawrence Bies of this village, returned Thursday to Sheridan, Ore., after a several weeks' visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bies, Depot street.

Vehicle Division Plans Information Service in State

Police Emergency Requests Will be Taken During Day or Night

Operating methods for the new 24-hour emergency information service which will go into effect March 15 are outlined in a bulletin received by county law enforcement officials from Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman.

Under the system, the records of the motor vehicle division at Madison will be available to authorized law enforcement agencies each night between 5 o'clock in the afternoon until 8:30 in the morning as well as during the regular office hours during the daytime.

Police or sheriff's departments which are equipped with police radio sets, such as the police radio system WAKE at Oshkosh, which includes Outagamie county, are authorized to broadcast their requests for information direct to the Madison police department, or to some neighboring station which in turn can reach the Madison system.

Agencies not having radio may communicate by telephone or by telephone during the night hours. When the Madison police receive an emergency radio call they communicate with the motor vehicle division by telephone and then re-broadcast the desired information.

Need for emergency information, according to the bulletin, usually originates as a result of a serious crime or misdemeanor, following the commission of which the officer handling the case must seek important data concerning an individual motor vehicle owner or driver, or identify a particular vehicle and trace its ownership.

Officers using the service have been asked to make their requests as brief as possible, but clear and specific. Requests for information concerning cars should be accompanied by the correct license number or the correct engine number, while requests concerning persons should include the correct name in full, last known address and a brief description, if possible.

Vacations for Pupils Will Begin on Mar. 30

The schools will be closed on March 31 to free teachers who will attend the Northeast Wisconsin Education association convention at Green Bay.

A group of enterprising students surprised the homerooms of Appleton High school Thursday afternoon with an original radio play, "A Yankee Always Laughs."

The drama centered around America's entrance into the World war and the subsequent fate of three "buddies." John Hammer was the writer and director. The cast of characters consisted of Jeanne Niemeyer, Mary Brandenburg, Norman Gieble, Harold Elke, John Meyer and Herman Ecker. Harold Wieland directed the announcing.

Sound effects were the responsibility of Don Owen and Ralph Junge. Fritz Hervey had charge of the technical end of the production, while Israel Schillcrat did the necessary historical research.

Seasonal Slump Is Reflected in Building Report

Inspector Expects Construction Increase in Appleton This Month

The delayed start in home building and remodeling work in Appleton this year is reflected in the monthly report of the city building inspector which a $12,220 total for February compared to $21,950 for the same month last year.

Albert C. Rule, building inspector, said today that contractors and private builders have held off because of the cold weather and re-pealing snows during the month. However, he said building will pick up in the city this month basing his opinion on the many calls for information about building during the last week.

The February total was only one-fifth of the total for January when the inspector authorized building estimated at $63,100, including $50,000 for the remodeling of Lincoln school.

During the month six permits were issued for two residences and garages estimated at $11,600 and four for remodeling work estimated at $820. By wards the work was divided as follows: $7,000 in the Second ward; $5,000 in the Fourth ward and $220 in the Sixth ward.

In February last year, five permits for residences and garages estimated $21,200, were granted. Remodeling work a year ago was estimated at $750. In January this year one permit for a new home estimated at $3,500 was issued.

Mrs. John Knabenbauer, 1303 S. Jefferson street, is recovering at St. Elizabeth hospital following a major operation Thursday morning.

Character Only Real Security, Babson Asserts

Criticizes Use of Social Security Fund for Current Expense

BY ROGER BABSON
Palm Beach, Fla. — Insurance and "guarantees" are the latest American fad. The demand for old age pensions, for a "guaranteed" wage, for unemployment insurance, for fixed prices, and the like means that America has come of age. Our pioneering days are over. Instead of pushing on to new frontiers, our people are clamoring for stability and security. No matter how much we endorse and underwrite our own futures, however, we will find that the only real security is character.

To want security is the most natural of human desires. To believe, however, that security can be accomplished by simply "insuring" every phase of human activity is tragic. A security program is only as strong as the character of its administrators and the adequacy of its reserves. Moreover, history teaches that government insurance is not worth the paper it is written on when based on a flat rate from which everyone benefits equally, irrespective of his contribution.

Consumer Eventually Pays
Take the social security program, for example. Under its provisions, employers are now taxed one per cent of their payrolls and employees are contributing a like amount. In addition, employers are paying three per cent for unemployment insurance. These taxes are scheduled to increase until 1949 when employers will be paying six per cent and employees three per cent, or more. This will represent a six per cent excise tax on employers' payrolls and a three per cent income tax on every gainfully employed worker. Naturally, this nine per cent tax must be added to the cost of goods. Therefore, it will eventually be paid—as all taxes are—by the consumer. The current five per cent tax is already a big factor in living costs. It is handicapping thrifty people in saving something for themselves. Now, a movement, is on foot to put across a national health insurance program which would take another three per cent payroll tax. If enacted, it will boost the total tax on wages to twelve per cent.

Reserve Fund A "Myth"
These social security taxes alone are now giving the government about $1,000,000,000 a year of new spending money. This is the annual contribution of millions of individuals to the trust fund which is supposed to provide them with a monthly income in their old age.

The funds, however, are being used for current public expenses. In one cent being set aside for the future. If the Social Security system is not changed, I doubt very much if the young people of 20 to 30 years of age will ever receive any benefit from it. When their time arrives to get their $40, $50, or $60 monthly government check, it may not even buy a pair of shoes or a roast of beef! The Townsend plan, on some reasonable basis, is far safer. It, at least, "pays-as-it-goes" even though it, too, may increase prices tremendously!

482 New Taxes
Despite the swiftly running stream of revenues pouring into Washington, all eyes are focussed on new tax possibilities. Never before in our history has the government collected as much money as it is now doing. Moreover, it is spending every cent of it, including the money collected for the social security trust fund, and it is still paying only half its bills. Meanwhile, largely to pay for new "social" programs, state governments are considering 482 new licenses and taxes. If the security trend continues, the taxes necessary to pay for our "security" and "insurance" programs may amount to a practical confiscation of every individual's wages!

Fundamentally, the only real security is high spiritual and intellectual character. Industry, honesty, thrift, ability, courage, and kindness are those vital factors which make any security program click. Eliminate these qualities and insurance of any kind is useless. The government is simply the organization of people. The moral fibre of the government reflects the moral fibre of the people. If the people do not have strong character, their government insurance and security is useless. I believe that the worthy aged should be taken care of liberally. I believe in a national health program and insurance against the cost of emergency surgical operations which now are robbing good people of their savings. I, however, believe these benefits should be used for deserving citizens and not passed out by politicians to get votes from "Tom, Dick, and Harry!"

In summing up this whole subject, Father Feely of the University of San Francisco recently said: "I am convinced that we cannot have complete economic security without destroying personal liberty!" In this connection, I ask readers the following question: Where would you rather live? In the America of today where there is liberty for all but not security for all, or in the Germany of today where there is alleged security for all, but liberty for none?

WE NEED SENSIBLE GAMBLING LAWS

The proposal at Madison to license slot machines is a badly mistaken one.

Wisconsin needs a substitute for its blue law relating to gambling but our legislators should bear in mind in writing that substitute that the primary purpose is not revenue but order.

Revenue must be a secondary consideration. It cannot be lost sight of entirely these days because everything must be taxed from the sobbing cries of children to the groans of the dying.

Licensing slot machines would be extending approval to those who would gyp the public out of the most money. Certainly such a proposal should not get to first base in Wisconsin.

The gambling laws should be amended so as to create actuality between existing conditions that cannot be stopped, and never have been stopped, and the highest standard of decency that can reasonably be expected to receive public approval.

We have had states, particularly in our Southland, who tried licensing slot machines. They might as well have generated crows to help a farmer's corn crop. The result was degrading to the state and disgusting to its people.

But we have also had states that legalized gambling of an amusement nature and then surrounded it with all reasonable safeguards to make it fair, to secure for participants 90 per cent of the wagers instead of the usual 20 per cent, received back from slot machines, and thus turned a gyping adventure into rather a wholesome and workable plan.

We don't suppose that licensing slot machines ever had a chance at Madison. We believe that if there is any one thing the people want to see at the bottom of the lake it is the slot machines and merely because they have been so utterly dishonest. Eventually the legislature will give us something practical, we hope, and certainly will if it abandons the thought of immediate revenue for the state treasury and embraces the thought of the most fairness for the people who wish to pursue these forms of amusement.

EXECUTING SPIES

Germany under Hitler, like Russia under Stalin, has been as hard as steel in the treatment of such of its nationals as were convicted of giving aid or comfort, plans or information, to foreign states.

Italy has usually treated the offense with a little lighter touch, something short of death.

But as war approaches all vestiges of softness are cleared out of the room just as the fear of pity is brushed from the eye and considerations of mercy are abandoned.

Near Rome this week a young Italian naval employee was executed after conviction of espionage. Italy has not only become harsh but even resorts to shaming the culprit just as he is about to be unburdened of life. Its method is to turn him around and away from the firing squad that he may be shot in the back like a skulking coward.

Even as the Italian renegade was slain an execution squad of twelve sailors dealt out a traitor's death in France to a young ensign who was convicted of selling naval secrets to a foreign power.

That is going a long way for France. She didn't shoot him in the back nor otherwise attempt to shame his last moments except to dress him in his uniform from which had been torn all buttons and insignia. The fact that the squad that shot him was composed of volunteers among his own comrades indicates how chauvinism is climbing and as it climbs the great presses of time squeeze out a sap more bitter than any produced by chemicals.

No doubt capital punishment is something of a deterrent to offenses of this sort but it is not invoked for that reason. It is called into being to harden people, to toughen the nation, and give a grim and ugly sort of satisfaction to those who have been true to their country by showing them that those that have been false have been visited with the highest penalty and the deepest disgrace.

For in the face of danger a people for some reason, perhaps a good one, hate their own weaklings more than they appear to hate the enemy, if that were possible.

ABOLISH REAL ESTATE TAXES?

The Doughboy Mills, Inc., a New Richmond, Wisconsin, concern, is circulating this section of the state with its proposal to abolish real estate taxes entirely by substituting a revised income tax law.

It frankly states that since it is in the business of furnishing the farmer with some of his needs it cannot remain "a spectator to his slow decline in the economic scheme of things without a feeling of deep apprehension not only for his future but for our own."

Some years ago the Post-Crescent proposed that a legislative commission be appointed to make a deep and searching study into this very proposition. It seemed strange to us that we would gulp down all this fancy talk about "men paying taxes in proportion to their ability to pay," and then satisfy ourselves by merely scratching the surface.

A real estate tax upon manufacturing plants, and farms are manufacturing plants, may be and often is an additional burden upon a business that has not sufficient income to pay its overhead. It is somewhat akin to those very foolish laws that compel concerns pay a percentage "of their gross income" without giving any attention to whether they have any profits left after paying their gross expenses.

We harbor the feeling that there is more merit in this proposition than it has been given credit for in the past but that it also presents a number of collateral propositions arising because lands are used for so many and diverse purposes, some held for speculation, some employed merely as homes, some maintained for illegal purposes, although the greatest part, at least in area, is dedicated to the business of production.

Nor could we dismiss the subject without pointing to the fact that so long as our governments spend as much money as they do the mass of the common ordinary people must foot the bill and that those who do not pay directly in real estate taxes will find the added tax in the price structure that confronts them every day. At the same time a general income tax, or any sort of a tax that affects every wage earner, farmer and business man in the state, directly and to his face, would be something in the nature of a godsend to awaken all to the realization that the political playboys who now infest the nation are leading the country to a terrific headache if not a prolonged period of invalidism.

A FARMER-LABOR SENATOR IN ACTION

It was Senator Lundeen of Minnesota who charged the air a bit with electricity when he recently declared on the floor of the senate in relation to the President's discussion of foreign policy with the senate committee:

"If the American people ever learn what was said there, and if senators want to hear it, the nation would be shocked and stunned at the secrecy and at the conference we had."

Facts are that the President called this committee before him and asked them not to give out publicly the reports and declarations he made. They agreed to those terms. The conference ensued. The President gave certain reports that belonged to him because the constitution makes the chief executive the single person to handle foreign affairs until they arrive at the treaty status. The President also spoke freely and unconventionally.

Mr. Lundeen had the option of leaving the conference or staying there. But he had no option in respect to his conduct after having elected to stay there. Apparently he recognizes this fact by declining to give out in detail what transpired and yet he plays the part of a washerwoman gossip by indicating to the public that what took place was simply hellish. His statement is tantamount to the fellow who says to another, "I cannot tell you what Smith said about you but it was rotten."

When it is remembered that Senator Lundeen is a product of the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota that also sent Sheenmaker to congress and finds editors who oppose it assassinated, his approach to the President under the guise of accepted secrecy only to deal out a stab in the back will not seem so surprising.

GIRL SCOUTS' BIRTHDAY

We suppose it is all right to talk about birthdays concerning the Girl Scouts because the membership is composed of those eternally young.

But it is a fact that this wholesome organization is now 27 years of age and might otherwise be particular about mentioning ages.

The Girl Scouts came into existence at a Georgia tea which should remind us that a great many splendid things have come out of the teacup besides neighborhood gossip, and this is one of the very best of those things.

When we think of a Girl Scout we see a sturdy, happy youngster, clear of eye and erect of figure, anxious to do her part in this complicated world of ours, willing to learn and be helpful and ambitious to be clean and upright.

We salute the local girls on the good fortune of their membership and congratulate the country that the organization is broadening every day and doing a powerful turn in making for good citizenship and a bright and contented population.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

Fresno, Calif.—Here in the San Joaquin valley the land's richness flows into tons of fine fruit, and I am bitten again, as always happens when I see things growing, by the back-to-the-soil bug.

In this valley, from Bakersfield to Stockton, grow virtually all the raisins America eats—about 200,000 tons a year. High in the background runs the Sierra Nevada range of mountains, peaked with snow; and it is the snow and the waters from the mountains which, led down to the broad San Joaquin valley, feed the fertile soil and make the growing of the raisin grapes possible.

Fig and peach trees, leafless now, also dip into the earth of the 200-mile long valley and translate it into fruit and dollars. Sheep, and cattle graze in green meadows.

In early March the valley is delightful, brilliant with sunshine and comfortably cool. Summers, I am told, are hot, the sun burning down upon the flat lands, unrelieved by breezes.

This is the area where motorists' cabins and hotels abound in greater numbers than anywhere in the west. Tourists resting at any place in the valley can elect a great many diversified journeys from valley starting points. To the south are Los Angeles and Hollywood, or to the southeast the Mohave desert for those who yearn for burning sands and monotonous flatness. Eastward lie Yosemite and its winding, climbing roads. Northwest lie San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, the empire of redwood and the sturdy forests of northern California.

One of the happiest of our San Francisco days was a journey by motor to Muir Woods, an easy ride across the Golden Gate bridge with a sharp climb over breath-taking roads. There we saw our first redwoods—not as large as those in the Yosemite, they said, but gigantic nonetheless.

On the trunks of many of them are the scars of fire—scars of indefinite age, for there has been no forest fire there in a great many years. The redwood bark is very thick and virtually fireproof.

Visitors to Muir Woods walk on a carpet of fine powdered dust and bark from the redwoods. To wander among the silent forest sentinels gives a strange feeling, as though one were an ant crawling about under the eyes of Gargantua who stare complacently but speak no word.

These trees, you suddenly realize, are living things. They stand not in clusters but each alone—autonomous, aloof, kingly. You have the strangest sensation that somehow they are watching these little creatures called Men, and that they are slightly contemptuous. You wonder how they live on and on, century after century—for many of these trees stood here before Christ was born—saying no word, voicing no complaint, evincing no emotion either of hate or greed.

Here and there one sees a great tree lying, still dignified, on its side, felled by the rage of some screaming, ill-tempered wind. And still it lives, for from its trunk rises another tree that will live to see you and I, and nations woe each other out, and new creeds and new states be born, and new people.

They leave me with a feeling of uneasiness and somehow of dread; but always when I stand among them I am humbled. There is nothing like a forest or a sky splashed with stars to cut a man down to his pitifully small size.

It was while we were riding back to San Francisco from Muir Woods that I remarked upon the large number of sea gulls that make the harbor their home; and a man told me there was no record of anyone having ever seen a gull alight on either the Golden Gate bridge or the San Francisco-Oakland span.

"They will fly over the bridges," he said, "or under; but never do they alight. No one seems to know just why."

Nobody except the gulls, if they could tell, it would be a perfectly good reason. Dumb animals are smart.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO
Friday, March 8, 1929

The high school senior class graduating that year voted to invest the money remaining in the class treasury in such a manner that the fund could be used to furnish a room or buy equipment for the stage in a new senior high school, when and if one is built.

Mrs. Rudolph C. Breitung was elected president of the newly organized Trinity Guild of Trinity English Lutheran church. Mrs. Arthur H. Melzer was vice president and Mrs. Gustave E. Tesch was treasurer.

A special committee of the board of education was preparing a recommendation for a site for a new senior high school and a report was expected that week.

25 YEARS AGO
Friday, March 13, 1914

Richard W. Thichens had purchased a residence on Laws street.

Attorney Mark Catlin was elected president of the Fox River valley chapter of Phi Delta Theta fraternity at a meeting in Menasha.

George Banta, Jr. was named secretary. Willie Ritchie, worlds lightweight champion, and Ad Wolgast, former champion, fought ten rounds to a draw in Milwaukee the previous evening. A number of Appleton men saw the fight.

The Wisconsin Traction Light Heat and Power Co. was indicating that it might be interested in buying the site of the old fire and police station at Oneida and Washington streets.

A Verse for Today

HER MOTHER'S DRESS

When Florence wore her mother's dress,
And floated down the narrow stair,
The old house held the happiness
It would have had, her mother there.
We felt a deepening of joy,
And richer hospitality.

The gracious arts she would employ
Shone through the mist of memory.

The dress was black silk, softly folded
Into a neat bow at the waist.
The bearded basque was trimly molded;
The collar was in gentle taste.
The pin that fastened it, a treasure
From days that held no loneliness.
We viewed the lovely sight with pleasure
When Florence wore her mother's dress.

When Florence tied her mother's bonnet
Deftly beneath her smooth white chin—
The hat with the red rose upon it,
And streamers of black silk, worn thin—
She tied into our lives the thought
Of steady sweet companionship,
Of simple prayers that Mother taught,
Her loving gaze, her smiling lip.

And in that room, the influence
Of early teachings overlay,
Two worlds joined hands in consequence
Of Florence's unique array.
Suddenly friendship seemed to bless
Our lives, and we were freed from care.
When Florence wore her mother's dress,
And rustled down the polished stair.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — Facts and figures about our new defense armament program, what direction it may take, what developments affect it, and time lag and costs are coming more and more to light as Congress digs deeper.

Here are some:
Of the 2,000 or more fighting and bombing planes we now have, less than 900 are classified as late model effective. The rest already are obsolescent—outspaced.

It will take close to two years to get delivery on an appreciable number of the 3,000 or more new fighting craft ordered, although deliveries of some can begin almost at once, as the factories are already under contract for certain types.

Full capacity of American factories is about 12,000 planes a year. With unlimited funds to buy the output of all factories, 2,500 could be delivered to the army the first year, 7,000 or 8,000 the second year, and the full 12,000 production the third year.

From General Arnold, Chief of the Army Air Corps:
"The pursuit plane has the shortest life of any plane due to the almost constant improvements in performance. The 300 mile plane of yesterday is almost obsolete today. We believe as a result of changes in design, methods of construction and materials that from now on until the next few years the life of the pursuit plane will not be more than two years, four years at the maximum. The bomber plane has a life of from 4 to 6 years, maybe as much as 8 years. The life of the observation plane is about 8 years."

Terrific Cost of Upkeep
Overall costs of keeping up, operating and replacing the contemplated air fleet of 5,500 planes will be $23,000,000 a year. That is equal to half the cost of maintaining the whole Army at present.

The Army for many purposes is returning to liquid-cooled engines, as distinguished from the radical type air cooled. General Arnold explains:

"At the present time experience abroad with high-speed airplanes indicates that a liquid cooled engine is the one that is so shaped that the designers are able to get the maximum speed."

Liquid-cooled (not with water, but special chemicals) engines can be fitted into the wings, reducing head resistance. Designers already see the practical limit of speed for present designs. It is something less than 600 miles an hour. 10 miles a minute. At 600 miles an hour the air is virtually a solid, say designers, so planes must be pointed or bladed to cut through.

General Arnold: "Today Germany has something more than 50,000 young men who are going to flying schools for training."

By 1940 the Army hopes to get, under the program, 3,400 pilots. At present the army has 1,755 regular army fliers and 975 reserve officer fliers.

The Army has about given up playing with diesel engines for airplanes, "prefers gasoline motors." The diesel is still attractive to the Navy, which dislikes carrying highly inflammable supplies of gasoline to sea. Diesels burn less inflammable fuel.

The Army is hunting, but has not yet found, a plastic which will permit it to "pour" its airplane bodies, like concrete, instead of the slower riveting and welding of aluminum and steel.

Believe it or not, Germany is trying to sell in the U. S. its latest designs of helicopter. They have the only practical one, says Arnold. Its overhead propeller lifts it straight up.

Artists who turn fliers are likely to please Lt. Col. D. A. Myers of the medical corps who examines pilots. He finds in them a "nicety of muscular movement and coordination" helpful in flying. He can spot an artist-turned-flier by watching his handling of the controls.

WELL
I'LL

Hollywood — I see there's a fellow from Omaha made a trip to Washington, D. C. and put two hundred and thirty dollars in a pillow case at the hotel. He slept on the pillow all night, then got up and checked out without remembering the dough. When he thought of it, some time later, he rushed back to the hotel and found that his pillow case had gone to the laundry. It looked like "good-bye" to his roll of bills but the bozo was lucky. His two-hundred-and-thirty-dollar was located, still wrapped in the case, all freshly laundered!

Now this beats anything I ever heard tell of. Boys from the country usually get cleaned out by city slickers. But this man is the first visitor to a big city who ever got a cleaning without being cleaned!

STILL TRYING FOR A FALL

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WINGAARD

Madison—Since they have apparently begun their pretentious task with a will, it is perhaps well to report what the insurgents in Chairman William D. Carroll's Wisconsin Democratic party are currently doing and planning to do.

Briefly said, they have organized what they have called "an inter-county Democratic committee," led by Chairman Ed Curry of Milwaukee and Gustave Keller of Outagamie county, which proposes to liberalize the Wisconsin Democratic organization, revitalize it, support the Roosevelt New Deal, produce new leadership in some of the sections of the state where Democrats are conspicuous for their scarcity, and bring to the 1940 Democratic national convention a slate of delegates pledged to a New Deal candidate, preferably FDR himself.

Probably the most significant feature of the movement—and it is yet impossible to determine its potentialities—is the willingness, even determination, to woo Progressive liberals from the LaFollette fold.

Proceedings of the group have thus far been purposely kept secret, the leaders say, in order to perfect a plan of reorganization, and a platform of principles. However, Carroll himself has been invited to participate, even to lead. If he doesn't—according to reports from the "inter-county committee," he will have only himself to blame if he loses the chairmanship of the party.

NEW DEALERS ALL

Noteworthy in the Curry-Keller group is the enthusiastic New Deal spirit. It is a time when the New Deal is supposed to be slipping. Noteworthy too is the fact that the conventional leaders in the state Democratic camp are absent. Ryan Duffy is sympathetic, it is said, but he is in no sense a mover in the reorganization scheme. Nor are Broughton, Fox, Givan, Corcoran, Rubin, or any of the others whose names and ideas have dominated the party during its inglorious recent history in the state.

Since the Democratic insurgents have not yet shown up in a public meeting, it is hard to gauge their success in reorganizing in recent weeks. Accepting their own figures, they now command the support of county committees in about twenty southern, eastern and Fox River valley counties, and are working on a plan to extend their frontiers.

The next step in their program is the formation of a "liberal" platform—of which Wisconsin has seen many in the last year. It is not at all unlikely that a part of their campaign to woo away loyal LaFollette people will be the borrowing of some of the Progressives platform philosophy, notwithstanding the fact that the LaFollette pledges last fall were singularly ineffective in impressing the people against the Republican-Heil campaign.

While it is unlikely that any Democratic group in the next 18 months can make enough progress to be in a position to do that which it has so seldom done in the state history, capture the state government, it will pay to watch its activities because of the impending race for convention delegates to next year's convention.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

SIX MILES OF OXYGEN EVERY DAY

Rain, shine, snow or blow, a fair day's ration of exercise for adults who wish to keep fit is two miles of oxygen on the hoof three times a day or six miles in one dose.

Yes, I know that is a luxury which many cannot afford. Even with a clear road or path free from traffic impediments or hazards for the pedestrian it takes nearly two hours to walk six miles. Of course one who can't invest so much time in health less expensive substitutes must suffice.

Running at the rate of 160 steps a minute, an easy jog, increases metabolism about five times as much as walking does. Dancing increases metabolism as much or more than gymnastic exercise.

One unaccustomed to exercise should not attempt to walk six miles a day at first. A mile or two is enough for the first week or two, then week by week the daily ration may be gradually increased until one takes six miles as a matter of course.

A bulletin on Exercise and Health, issued by the U. S. Public Health Service (Supplement 24, Gov. Printing Office, Washington, D. C.) in 1915, describes walking as the best all-around exercise, the national pastime of at least one great foreign nation whose women are renowned for their beauty and vigor, a form of exercise which has been a favorite with many sages since a Greek philosopher rambled with his students through the hills and valleys of Attica. The federal public health authorities urged establishment of walking clubs which should have certain requirements and customs, emblems and other features to stimulate friendly rivalry and interest.

Resident of a northern city says there are many good hikers there, sometimes seven or eight girls get together for a holiday hike. One girl friend accompanied her on a walk to a neighbor town and back, 31 miles in ten hours. She says all the hikers she knows have found walking a big stepping-stone towards (shucks, she wrote before the word vite was born) buoyant health and spirits.

One or more companions add greatly to the enjoyment of daily walking. Even total strangers one meets on the path and comes to recognize as congenial souls contribute, if only by a friendly nod or salute in passing. Delightful companions on a walk are naturalists who not only have expert knowledge but seem to find actual pleasure in answering questions and in pointing out things you would ordinarily never notice.

A pedometer to record mileage adds interest to walking. Any dealer in sporting goods, jewelry store or mail-order house will supply the instrument for a few dollars.

The back trail movement is steadily gaining in this country—the establishment of trails exclusively for foot travelers, with hospices at reasonable distances along the trail for overnight shelter. This movement, however, answers a desire of young people and those with considerable leisure or people on vacation. What Colonel Tom Grandma Dick and Aunt Harriet sorely need is just a few miles of walks or paths straightaway, round and round or hither and yon where they may amble in reasonable security when so inclined.

Don't Call It Appeasement; Roosevelt Doesn't Like It

Washington—Don't call it an "appeasement" program around here. Roosevelt detests the word. Secretary Hopkins says the term is erroneous. You can speak of "recovery" without touching any exposed nerves. But don't—if you want to get out of Washington alive—don't speak of what is going on as a "retreat." That's a fighting word.

Roosevelt is sensitive to words, being a master at their use himself. No man is more conscious of the connotations of words nor more skillful in utilizing these connotations to produce the political effect desired. Early in the New Deal, the president was always liked when people urged "recovery before reform." He took the position that the phrase made no sense. He said that reform and recovery went hand in hand and that you couldn't have recovery without adopting reforms. Roosevelt always has reacted the terms "left" and "right," often describing them as "second-year high school words." Last summer the term "purge" was obnoxious because it carried a suggestion of the bloody tactics used by Hitler and Stalin.

Such terms do have strong unconscious political effects. Children may say "sticks and stones will break bones but words will never hurt me." But politicians do get hurt by words. Roosevelt's fight for utility holding-company regulation was made more difficult by the "death sentence" tag which was made more difficult by the "death sentence" tag which was hung on it by the utilities propaganda. And the supreme court enlargement bill lost strength every time its enemies called it the "court packing plan."

Secretary Hopkins says the administration is not appealing nor retreating. As he explained at Des Moines, the reform program is in the books and emphasis now turns to recovery.

When Hopkins and Secretary Morgenthau advocate measures to help recovery, they are not proposing sabotage of the New Deal but rather trying to insure its perpetuation. Their efforts will not mean calling off, all along the line, activities to which businessmen might object. Not even Coolidge could satisfy all demands made on him by businessmen.

Monopoly Committee Will Stay On The Job

The department of justice will go on with its anti-trust work. The monopoly committee will go ahead with its dissection of the economic system. In fact the committee may become slightly rough next week when it investigates the alcoholic liquor industry and the alleged monopoly of sulphur, in which one of Vice-President Garner's close friends and presidential campaign organizers is interested.

Even this week the monopoly committee has been digging in official said it was the only way to get the evidence.

He said his men once went into the files of a certain corporation and found a letter jacket stripped of everything except routine reports. On the back of one of these, filed after a directors' meeting, were numerous pencilled "doodads" drawn while the director was musing over the discussion which apparently concerned ways and means of dealing with certain price-cutting competitors. For the sheet contained, besides the doodads, scribbled phrases as follows: "Never write anything down." "Scare hell out of 'em." "Throw our weight around them."

Understanding, Participation, Loyalty are Requirements of Citizenship, Clubwomen Told

THE three primary requirements of good citizenship are understanding the role of government in everyday life, loyalty and participation, Prof. R. J. Colbert, head of the department of social science of the University of Wisconsin extension division, told Appleton Federated Women's club members at a meeting Thursday afternoon at the club house.

Prof. Colbert explained that for every right, privilege and opportunity a person receives through his citizenship, society exacts of him duties and responsibilities, and when he is negligent of those duties he is not playing fair or giving a just return for what he receives.

Pointing out that the present generation enjoys rights and opportunities quite different from those of their ancestors, the speaker said that up to the Jackson administration the chief function of government was the maintenance of peace and the protection of property. There was a strong feeling that the government should keep hands off, he added, and the trend was for the government to get rid of its holdings as quickly as possible.

Government Grows

Since that time, Prof. Colbert stated, ideas have altered and government has come to play a more and more important role in our everyday life, but the people's attitude does not seem to have changed to conform with the times. Government has grown until in 1930 one out of every ten persons gainfully employed was a public employee, he said.

"We are living as a public," he added, "and democracy is a way of life."

Prof. Colbert went on to show that one-third of our daily wants are satisfied through the channels of public agency, among them water, power, food, streets and education. He stated that more progress and changes were made in the last 50 years than in the previous 6,000 years.

Stressing the idea that every citizen should understand the role of government and what part he should play in its advancement, Prof. Colbert told of Citizenship day as it is to be celebrated in Manitowish May 21, in which young men and women who have reached the age of 21 and will vote for the first time this year will be instructed in their duties as citizens and receive certificates of citizenship.

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties. BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

early diagnosis and treatment of tuberculosis." A first prize of $150 and a second prize of $1 is offered to each of the county's eight high schools and winners of first prizes may compete for the grand prize of $5.

A study to determine to what extent tuberculosis is attacking students of Waupaca High school will be conducted next week by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, having been postponed one week due to drifted roads which delayed the doctor's arrival.

The program is being sponsored by the Waupaca Public Health association and will be financed by that group and with the funds raised from the annual sale of penny Christmas seals.

The tuberculin test will be given Monday and doctors will return Wednesday to read the tests. X-rays for reactors will be arranged locally, through use of the Christmas seal funds.

The program here is sponsored by the Monday Night club. Mrs. Tom Browne is chairman.

Madison—Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis upheld yesterday an order of the state department of agriculture and markets denying a 1939 milk dealer's license to the National Guernsey Dairy, Inc., of Racine. ## Judge Werner Is Citizenship Day Committee Chief

Executive Group Named To Make Plans for Appleton Program

Judge E. V. Werner was named chairman of the proposed citizenship day for young people who have come of voting age at a meeting of representatives of civic organizations Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. and an executive committee was appointed to make arrangements for the event.

On the executive committee, which will work with Judge Werner, are Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools; Donald Du Shane, associate professor of government at Lawrence college; Mrs. William Kelm, citizenship chairman of the Appleton Federated Woman's club; H. H. Helble, principal of Appleton High school and state Americanization chairman of the American Legion; Mrs. H. W. Miller, state president of the American Legion auxiliary; Miss Lynda Hollenbeck of the Appleton Business and Professional Women's club and Clarence Baetz, county commander of the American Legion.

About 50 persons attended the meeting, the second held by the group. Mrs. F. J. Leonard, president of the Appleton Federated Woman's club, presided until the election of Judge Werner as chairman.

Will Determine Date
At the last meeting of the group June 4 was set as the date for the citizenship ceremony, but at last night's meeting it was indicated that if the executive committee found it advisable to change the date it would have the power to do so. It was also given the power to add to its original membership of seven if it found necessary.

In the 2-hour discussion that preceded naming of the executive committee, the group discussed the system being carried out in Manitowish county, the suggestions of Dr. R. J. Colbert of the University of Wisconsin Extension Division, the work of the schools in citizenship education, the problem of getting the names of young people who have reached the age of 21 and how to attract the young people to the meeting.

John R. E. Miller reported on the talk given by Dr. Colbert at the woman's club meeting in the afternoon and quoted him as saying that there were about 850 young men and women of Outagamie county coming into the electorate this year. He suggested that their names be obtained through the schools in Manitowish county. A large number of young people are receiving citizenship training from Dr. Colbert since last fall and will be given citizenship certificates at a citizenship day, May 21. A parade, with floats depicting government themes, will be part of the day's program.

Would Mark Event
It was agreed that there was no time for an educational program such as was carried out in Manitowish county if the Outagamie county citizenship day was to be June 4. However, the day might be valuable, it was pointed out, in that it would ascribe to citizenship the importance it deserves.

Mr. Van Straten said that he felt the purpose of the program was to attach importance to citizenship rather than to teach what the schools should have taught. "America," he said, "is unbelievably undersold to the American people."

Prof. Du Shane expressed the same opinion, declared that citizenship training in the schools today was excellent and that the student felt it would be a great thing when he was old enough to vote. But he said that the purpose of the program was to get the public to notice that the public is indifferent and seems to attach no importance to the privilege of voting. A project such as citizenship day, therefore, would be worthwhile in that it would indicate to young people that they were being welcomed as citizens, he said.

Others who spoke said that two or three months was not enough time to arrange such a program and that if the project were hurried, they might lose sight of the educational purpose. Mrs. S. C. Shannon endorsed the plan as a fine idea but said they would need something more than words to attract young people.

Warning that the movement must be above partisan politics and another that it must be sponsored by citizens of all kinds and not just by one or two organizations also were heard.

Upon a motion made by Homer Gebhardt, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., the group decided to do the best it could in the time left and sponsor a citizenship day.

Spring Styles are Displayed as Store Windows are Lighted

Shoppers of Appleton and vicinity got their first glimpse of the new spring styles last night as merchants of the city displayed their gayly decorated windows revealing an exciting array of new merchandise.

The spring opening will continue through Saturday. Today's warm weather enticed a great many shoppers to the downtown area to inspect the latest in spring fashions. A window judging contest was a feature of the Spring opening last night. Arrangements were made by a committee consisting of Edward Nadel, chairman, William Peterson and Royall Larson.

GROUP MAPS PRELIMINARY PLANS FOR CITIZENSHIP DAY PROGRAM

Plans for welcoming young people who have reached the age of 21 into active citizenship on a county-wide citizenship day were discussed at a meeting of representatives of various civic organizations Thursday night at the Y.M.C.A. Judge E. V. Werner, lower left, was named chairman of the project. Some of the persons who have been most active in sponsoring the program are the four above, reading from left to right, Donald Du Shane, Mrs. F. J. Leonard, Mrs. William Kelm and Homer Gebhardt. Present plans are that the citizenship day will be held June 4. (Upper Photo by Post-Crescent)

Roosevelt Firm On His Estimates On Relief Needs

prations subcommittee to the White House to discuss his forthcoming request for additional money for WPA.

Senator Byrd (D-Vo.), discussing the subject with reporters, said: "There is only one place that any money can be saved this year, and that is in the large expenditures not represented in the regular budget, such as relief."

Byrd pointed out that most budget estimates already had been presented to congress and that from a practical standpoint this made it more difficult to obtain reductions. He indicated, nevertheless, that economy advocates later might propose a blanket percentage cut.

The difficulty that Mr. Roosevelt would encounter in any attempt to reduce relief expenditures was highlighted yesterday by a statement from Colonel F. C. Harrington, WPA administrator, that unless congress grants $150,000,000 by April 1 he would be forced to begin drastic reductions in relief rolls.

2 Major Factors

The president said at his press conference today he would work on his relief message during the week-end, adding that there were two factors in the relief situation which stood out as important.

One, he said, is the fact that there are only about five people out of every hundred on the relief rolls who should not be there. He called this a very small percentage in view of the great number of relief recipients and the changing conditions under which WPA is operated and added that it represented pretty good administration.

The other important point to keep in mind, he asserted, is that people who are put on the lists from which WPA workers are selected are put on by the local governments and not by federal representatives.

Large Waiting Lists

He said that the 30,000 aliens cut off the rolls in accordance with restrictions imposed by congress in the last relief bill had been replaced by citizens who were on the waiting lists.

Those erroneously on the rolls, he declared, are there for several reasons, including:

1. Persons who have received income through family connections or from some other source after they first qualified for relief and who have not notified officials of their independent income.

2. Those who are working and have failed to report that fact to the WPA.

3. A small percentage of persons who get on the rolls through making false statements.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that the rolls were constantly being gone over in an effort to eliminate those persons who should not be on them.

Memorial Service For College Student Conducted at Chapel

Memorial services for John Harrington Wood, 19, Wauwatosa, a Lawrence college sophomore, who died yesterday of a streptococcal infection following pneumonia, were attended by the entire student body, faculty and staff of Lawrence college at 11 o'clock this morning at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

Wood, a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, won his numerals in freshman football last year and was recently elected one of the most handsome men on the campus in a co-ed poll.

Musical selections were provided by LaVahn K. Maesch at the organ.

Plans for the Easter Seal sale to raise money for the Outagamie County unit of the Wisconsin Association for the Disabled were discussed at a meeting of representatives of various Appleton organizations Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

The seal sale is scheduled to begin on March 15 and will continue through Easter. Representatives at the meeting were H. W. Miller, C. G. Bertram, A. G. Oosterhaus, J. T. Doerflinger, H. J. Van Straten, Dr. J. B. MacLaren, R. J. Meyer, Mrs. Mabel O. Shannon, Mrs. O. B. Babbel, Mrs. Roy G. Hauert, Mrs. Edgar V. Werner, Mrs. C. O. Baetz, Mrs. Fred R. Gehrke, Mrs. Arthur F. Schuering, Mrs. Albert Weiss and Mrs. William Nemachek.

The organization's annual quota in the county has been about $625 but this year more money will be needed to help support the state camp for crippled children at the Wisconsin Deaf, according to Mrs. Mabel O. Shannon, president of the association. Eight children from the Outagamie county district attended the camp last summer.

The association was organized and had its first drive in 1935 when $668.39 was raised in the seal sale. In 1936, $672.21 was raised, $753.32 in 1937 and $533.27 in 1938.

Tanks are Used Against Reds in Madrid Uprising

revolt was far from being suppressed despite announcement last night by the defense council government that the communist general headquarters had surrendered.

But advices early today indicated Mija's troops and communists were fighting in Guadalajara, Murcia and Ciudad Real, while isolated groups of reds were holding out at Valencia and Cartagena.

Call More Troops
The government itself, in censor ed dispatches from Madrid, acknowledged fighting still was going on in the capital. Troops from other sectors had been called to Madrid to aid in suppressing the revolt.

Dispatches from Burgos, nationalist capital, said fugitives from the war-within-a-war at Madrid still were filtering through the machine-gun cordons Mija had posted.

Upon reaching nationalist siege lines just outside Madrid, they reported the Mija-communist struggle had taken a heavier toll than nationalist shelling.

Snipers, barricaded in houses in the center of Madrid, were said to be picking off members of Mija's patrols. Mija's soldiers and their enemies, erstwhile comrades in the defense of Madrid against nationalist siege, were virtually the only persons on the streets.

Back of the 28-month-old nationalist siege lines Generalissimo Franco calmly awaited the outcome of the internal struggle—fully ready to launch a grand offensive or accept surrender of the republican capital no matter who won.

Possessions, Accumulated in 46 Years, Sold at Auction

Forest Junction — In the extreme northeast corner of Calumet county, two miles north and four miles east of Forest Junction, the Bruss brothers farm on Wednesday was the scene of what was probably the largest personal property auction ever to be held in this area. An assortment of goods accumulated through 46 years of family occupation of the place, and variously estimated in value from $5,000 to $7,000 was being offered in a one-day sale.

For approximately a mile in each direction of the premises, a double line of automobiles flanked the snow-banked highways, others crowded the parking spaces in and about the Bruss premises. Two auctioneers worked from 8:30 in the morning in an attempt to dispose of the wares to the estimated 2,000 persons before nightfall. Contents of the barns, including a 22-head herd of Holstein cows, were still unsold at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The 112-acre farm, with an additional 120 acres across the line in Brown county, was acquired by the late Gustav Bruss about in 1893, whose two sons, Albert and Walter Bruss, who had now been occupying the place, sold the place this winter to Daniel Geiger, farmer of that neighborhood on route 2, Brillion.

Obligated by impaired health to retire from active farming in this climate, the Bruss brothers are removing some time before May 1 from their native environment and will tour the western and southwestern states for a season in search of a new location.

State Is Leader In Cow Numbers

Wisconsin Farmers Have Followed Trend of Increasing Herds

Wisconsin continues to lead all other states in the number of milk cows and total milk production, according to estimates made recently by the crop reporting service of the state and federal departments of agriculture.

There are about 2,179,000 head of cows and heifers kept for milk in Wisconsin, the only state to have more than two million milk cows. Only six other states have more than one million milk cows. Minnesota ranks second in milk cow numbers with 1,705,000 head, Iowa third with 1,472,000 head, and Texas fourth with 1,458,000 head. New York farmers have 1,423,000 head of milk cows, and estimates for Illinois and Ohio show each state having over 1,400,000 head of dairy cattle.

With the increase in feed supplies, Wisconsin farmers have followed the general trend of increasing milk cow numbers. Estimates for this year show that the number of milk cows in the entire nation as well as in Wisconsin is about 1 per cent larger than a year ago.

The increase in the number of milk cows, excellent pastures last summer, together with abundant feed supplies during fall and winter caused the highest milk production ever recorded for the state. According to the crop reporting service, the total milk production for Wisconsin last year is estimated at 11,862,000,000 pounds. This figure is about 484,000,000 pounds greater than the state's output in 1937.

Grasshopper Control Meeting Set April 10

In anticipation of the annual invasion by crop insect enemies, the state department of agriculture and markets will conduct a series of grasshopper and corn borer meetings at strategic points throughout the state, one of them in Outagamie county.

Methods of control will be discussed with farmers by Noel F. Thompson, A. L. Piller and H. E. Halliday of the department. Colored motion pictures will be used to illustrate insect warfare tactics. The schedule of meetings will begin next week and continue for five weeks. The meeting in Outagamie county will be held on April 10.

Wisconsin Dairymen Will Meet at Kohler

A number of Outagamie and Calumet county farmers will attend the Wisconsin Dairymen's sixty-seventh annual convention at Kohler on March 21 and 22. A special junior program is being planned, and all 4-H vocational agriculture boys and girls may obtain tickets for a scheduled luncheon.

Mr. Ickes Would Hardly Want To Abolish Tobacco Industry

BY WESTBROOK FEGLER

Washington—In one of his orations on the duties and derelictions of the press Harold Ickes, the little fox Goebbels of the New Deal, insisted that dishonest motives and not objective judgment caused a majority of the newspapers to dead-hoek a story about cigarettes which, in the words of an authority that he quoted, was sensational enough to "make tobacco users' flesh creep."

I am not going into that argument again, because those who believe that the story was suppressed and not merely spiked will continue to believe that the editors who omitted it did so out of considering for those who buy space to advertise cigarettes. There is no proof by which to convince them.

However, it follows that if Mr. Ickes regards the cigarette as a great menace to health he must favor the abolition of the industry and of the trade in other forms of tobacco as well, the other forms being only slightly less poisonous than the cigarette.

He does not press that point, however, and if he were to do so he probably would catch a swift pop in the mouth from the mild and friendly secretary of the treasury, Mr. Henry Morgenthau, who last year collected in taxes from the manufacture of tobacco, including cigarettes, more than half a billion dollars.

Even Mr. Roosevelt, a cigarette smoker himself, might reach across the table and whang Mr. Ickes one with the crook of his stick at the next cabinet meeting, for the tobacco habit is one whose abolition would wreck not only the New Deal but rattle the United States.

The treasury, which must find the money that Mr. Ickes spends, would lose $568,181,000 a year, vast areas of tobacco land in nine states would become a fresh problem to poor Henry Wallace, thousands of tobacco field hands and factory workers employed not only in tobacco manufacture but in dependent operations would be thrown onto relief or WPA, and there would be ghastly consequences in many other directions.

The half billion of taxes on cigarettes and tobacco manufacture is about half the size of the treasury's loot from the individual income taxes and about half the size of the corporation income tax revenue. Moreover, individuals and corporations in the tobacco trade are large contributors to the individual and corporation income tax, and if their income were cut off those totals would drop sharply. It is impossible to estimate how much.

Very oddly—and here is a tip for some alert lobbyist in search of a rich client—the tobacco industry maintains no lobby here comparable to the liquor lobby and may have none at all.

I have searched patiently, if not too skillfully, being not a very good figure-digger, for an authority who could give me collected figures on the number of retail tobacco stores in the country, and the figure that I discovered—about 15,000—seems hardly worth reporting.

There must be that many in New York City alone.

So, too, of other data. Sixteen states have license taxes for dealers, but I can't find out how much they

Your best friend should have told you: You can buy a Buick for $894 and up

WE'RE talking about that friend of yours who owns a 1939 Buick—

You've heard plenty from him, naturally, about the fresh-as-the-morning-breeze styling of his taut and trim new Buick—and the way it perks abody up just to look it over!

You've listened while he sang the praise of a ride that's like a lullaby—soft and gentle as a tender touch, but sure, unwavering, steady, in cross-wind or at speed.

No doubt you've sensed his joy at those eight eager Dynaflex cylinders, that need only the gentlest sort of hint to hike you straight to the forefront—and the snug and reassuring steadiness of this low-slung, stable stepper's gait!

All of which is well and good, but has your good friend told you this:

... That Buick's prices are easily the lowest

... That this far-ranging great-hearted eight — with all the sky-larking life those extra cylinders give it—still costs less than some sixes?

... That factory list figures run anywhere from $51 to $102 less than a year ago—and that they buy worlds more in self-banking Kneec-Action, Handshift transmission, 15% softer BuicOil Springing, visibility stepped up as much as 412 square inches, any number of so-called "extras" such as the Flash-Way direction signal?

If he hasn't, it's plainly time to get dollars-and-cents figures on what the model of your choice will cost delivered in your driveway!

That will prove, we think, that this shining star is in your reach — so why should you be without it?

The Appleton High school basketball team draws the strong Manitowoc squad as its opponent for the final tilt of the 1938-39 Fox River Valley conference season. A large crowd is expected to see the two teams go to it at 8:15 this evening in the new gymnasium with the Terrors set on winning up the season with a win and the invaders equally determined to finish in the win column.

Despite the prevalence of head-colds and flu, the Blue and Orange will be at full strength, excepting only Wes Morris, regular guard, who may not see action. Morris is shaking the effects of a recent illness. Ten seniors will be playing their last games for "dear ol' A.H.S." and Coach Joseph Shields intends to give them all a chance. Starting at four o'clock tonight will be Vernon and Buesing, two rugged lads who have been playing a sterling brand of ball the latter part of the season. John Blich will perform at center and George Swamp and Bob Bailey will show at guards. Ready to step in will be Fraser and Burton at forward, Guard at center and DeLeest at guard.

Green Bay East and Green Bay West will tangle in a feature battle at the latter school tonight while Fond du Lac will renew its traditional rivalry at Oshkosh and North and Central, the two Sheboygan schools will put on a show at Central. Oshkosh travels to Green Bay West for a hangover engagement next Tuesday.

Appleton High school seconds, coached by Myron Seims, will be seeking their seventeenth consecutive victory when they meet the Manitowoc Reserves in a preliminary at 7 o'clock this evening.

Michigan Track Coach Accepts Post at Yale

New Haven, Conn. —(7)—Charles B. Hoyt, track coach and football trainer at the University of Michigan for the past 18 years, will come to Yale next fall in the same capacity.

Macolm Farmer, chairman of athletics at Yale, announced last night Hoyt had been appointed and would report Sept. 1 to succeed Frank A. Kanaly as track mentor and major Frank A. Wandie as grid trainer.

Hoyt, who resigned his Michigan post Wednesday night, is a graduate of Grinnell college in Iowa, where he started as a track man and in other branches of athletics.

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

Appleton Post-Crescent
Friday, March 10, 1939

Dear Mac,

Haven't been able to write a letter the last few days because a Miss I. M. Fluenza, I believe you're acquainted with the young lady, has been flitting with me and taking up most of my extra time. Having repelled her advances, I'll string together some odds and ends.

Something hot off the griddle and not supposed to be generally known is that Saylor Canadeo, well known amateur boxer of St. Norbert college, will receive the good sportsmanship trophy at the finals of the Chicago Tribune's Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions tonight. Canadeo has run into tough luck in his thrusts for fistic fame each year at Chicago and his valor and ability will get belated recognition tonight, according to my informant.

Incidentally, that card dished up by Matchmaker Les Holzer for Thursday evening at the armory fairly bristles with talent. Canadeo is billed in one of the double winners.

George Rooney, former Appleton High school and University of Wisconsin basketball star, is making quite a name for himself as playing coach of the Jackson (Mich.) Goodyears. The Jackson quint recently lost to their big brothers, the Akron Goodyears, by a narrow 52 to 50 score, Rooney caging 17 points for his team.

Big Vince Jones, Appleton youth who was a bulwark of the Lawrence college Midwest conference football champions, has been named to a berth on the Beta Theta Pi national honorary football squad. The organization's magazine has the following to say about the lad:

"To Vincent C. Jones, goes the unique distinction of being the first member of his chapter to receive recognition in a Beta football review. Although only a sophomore, this mammoth tackle, who measures 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 285 pounds was easily the greatest lineman in his district, being unanimously selected on every Midwest conference first team.

"Despite his tremendous size, he was exceedingly fast on his feet; in fact, he was generally considered one of the fastest and hardest charging tackles in the west. Moreover, he was a great all-around player, particularly strong on defense, a vicious tackler and a good punt blocker who played almost 60 minutes of every game during the season.

"In the estimation of many, he would undoubtedly have been a regular on any one of the Big Ten eleven. As a high school athlete his reputation was such that he was strongly approached by the coaches of at least two of the most prominent teams in that conference.

"Jones is also a candidate for a position at center on the varsity basketball team and next spring he will unquestionably be one of the mainstays of the track squad. As a freshman he shattered the conference record in the 16-pound shotput with the very commendable mark of 46 feet 5 inches, a performance which augurs great things during the next two years.

"Michael Galko, 1939, a watchman guard who stood 5 feet 7 inches and weighed only 180 pounds, was rated as one of the greatest linemen for his size ever to appear in Midwest conference circles. He was extremely fast and very aggressive, a sturdy defensive player and a fine blocker, receiving honorable mention from the critics at the end of the season.

"Albert Novakofski, 1939, star Viking back, was mentioned on the 'little all-Psi' Phi Delta Theta fraternity team."

Yours truly,
Dick Davis.

Dick Sicchio, Wisconsin Rapids, versus Eddie Kizer, Pulaski.
Bruce Ferro, Oshkosh, versus Alois Kalnath, Chicago.
Earl Noel, Marinette, versus Matt Milhalovich, Milwaukee.

Windsor Boutts
Frank Duket, Marinette, versus Cassius Young, Chicago.
Saylor Canadeo, DePere, versus Bob Presser, Milwaukee.

A heavy demand is seen for tickets to the flashy 7-bout card to be presented by Oney Johnston post of the American Legion at 8:30 Thursday evening at Armory G. The event is expected to set a new high as far as amateur boxing in the Fox River Valley area is concerned.

Headlining the card are four boxers who take back seats for no one. Appearing in the double windup will be Saylor Canadeo, who has a following which is forever increasing, and Bob Presser, Milwaukee, who is what is commonly known as a fistic flash. Presser probably was the fastest sprinter in Milwaukee when he attended Lincoln High school. He was the star of the Milwaukee Journal's annual Golden Gloves tournament. Sam Levy, Journal scribe, praised him as the outstanding member of the team.

The other half of the twin bill has Frank Duket, Marinette, tangle with Cornelius Young, Chicago. Young was a Chicago Golden Gloves winner last year and beat his New York opponent in the infernal scrap. Duket was a tremendous hit at Chicago this year until he was stopped in his fourth round attempt. Both are heavyweights.

Cleveland Mayor Opens ABC Meet With Strike

Cleveland, (6)—The American Bowling Congress' 39th annual tournament opened on the upbeat.

Mayor Harold H. Burton, who prepared for the worst with a statement that he hadn't tangled with spittle and spares for 30 years, last night raised the curtain on the 55-day classic with a perfect strike.

A crowd of approximately 2,600 fans attended ceremonies inaugurating the keglers' marathon for prizes totaling $184,000. More than 23,000 bowlers will participate.

Army-Navy Classic Won't be Staged at Chicago This Year

Washington, (7)—Rear Admiral Wilson Brown, superintendent of the Naval Academy, told Representative Fries (D-Ill.) today it would be impossible for the Army and Navy service schools to play their 1939 game in Chicago "because of a contract of long standing to play the game in Philadelphia."

The Illinois congressional delegation has been seeking the game for Chicago because the captains of the rival teams were high school mates at Kankakee, Ill.

Marquette Rated High in Contest

Make Ready for 13th Annual Central Collegiate Conference Meet

South Bend, Ind. (7)—A half dozen meet records appeared in danger as 221 athletes from 15 schools made ready for the 13th annual Central Collegiate conference indoor track meet, which begins at the University of Notre Dame tonight.

The marks expected to fall are those for the 880-yard run, mile, two-mile, shot put, pole vault and relay.

Advance dope sheets ranked Notre Dame defending champion as favorite for the team title, with Marquette a close second and Pittsburgh, third.

Starting at 7:15 (CST), preliminaries will be run off tonight in the 60-yard dash, 60-yard high and 65-yard low hurdles, 440-yard dash and 880-yard run. The high jump will get under way tomorrow noon, and semi-finals in the dash and hurdles and finals in the other eight events will begin two hours later.

Among those to watch are: from Pittsburgh—John Bacyk, shot put, and Johnny Woodruff, 1938 Olympian, 60-meter champion, quarter mile and half mile; Notre Dame—Captain Greg Rice, mile and two-mile, and Ed Reiner, shot put; Michigan State—Wilbur Greer, 60-yard dash; Marquette—Bob Shurilla, world indoor record holder in the high jump; Drake—Hoyt (Chick) Evans, pole vault, and Bill Feiler, two-mile; Butler—Bill Southworth, mile, and Kansas State—Dick Hotchkiss, 60-yard high hurdles.

NO WONDER!—Harlan Gilgore, who often cracks 600 on the bowling alley, didn't do so well in a match with friends. He fell down seven times and rolled only 400 Gilgore blamed the freshly washed alleys until a friend discovered he had put on his shoes vice versa.

Perry Will Let Fly With Both Barrels in Opener With Budge

NEW YORK (7)—Egged on by his own stubborn pride and the crinkle of crisp greenbacks, Frederick John Perry will go out on the Madison Square Garden court tonight to try to beat down the great Don Budge and re-win his old position as the first tennis player of the world.

The match, the first of a string that will take the pair careening through the armories and drill sheds of the land, is more than a contest between two of the best players in the world. It is a test match for professional tennis. Unless they produce a fast, hard fought match tonight the tour is doomed to slim crowds and slimmer gates.

Budge took on Elly Vines, acknowledged boss of the pro game, in his first tour and beat him 2:2 times out of 39 matches. As the tour progressed there were mutterings and in some cases loud hollers that Vines seemed a bit bored by the whole procedure.

Better Be Good

So it is up to Perry and Budge tonight. Reports of the tepidness of the last stage of the Budge-Vines cross country duel and Vines' unpopularity the last time here have hurt the gate. The advance sale is just over $5,000, compared with the $47,000 advance before Budge licked Vines. They had better be good.

Somehow we think they will and most of it will be to Frederick John Perry's credit. Frederick John is a proud soul. He is quite frank about his anger at being rated behind Budge and he is quick to tell you he will beat the California red head not only tonight but consistently throughout the tour.

We think he will win. Budge is tired and just a bit too confident. He has not played an eager, defiant opponent of his own calibre since he last beat Von Cramm. Perry wants this match.

Budge and Perry will clash Sunday, April 23, at Menasha High school gymnasium.

Kimberly A. A. Spurts in Last Quarter to Win

Most of Battle

KIMBERLY—In a game that had the large crowd of fans on edge, Kimberly A. A. champs turned on the heat in the last quarter to defeat the Niagara Badgers 47 to 34, at the clubhouse last night. Niagara led 15 to 7 at the quarter and was holding a 3-point lead at the half, 18 to 15. When the third period ended the score was knotted, 23-all.

It was then that the Papermakers stepped out garnering 24 points to the Badgers 11. E. Johansson of Niagara was high point scorer of the game with 15 points to his credit. Bowman of the champs led his team with 10 points.

E. Johansson rung the Bell as did Bowman in the opener but E. Johansson broke loose to score again. Bowman tipped in a rebound and Hofkins a gift shot when Johansson again rang up two more points. G. Rapach added a charity with Milbow and senior Rapach and Johansson adding buckets in quick succession to give the Northcrans a commanding lead. Norb Gossens looped a side shot but Rapach came back with one to give Niagara a lead 15 to 7 at the quarter.

Close Gap

Joe Gossens and the two Vander Velden brothers went in at the start of the second period to bring the Papermakers up within three points of the visitors at half-time. Buckets by Elmer Chubby and the Gossens brothers, shot the Papermakers within striking distance as the half ended in favor of Niagara 18 to 15.

The start of the second half had the champs score 8 points to 5 for the visitors which resulted in a knotted score 23 all as the third period ended.

The champs scored 24 points in the last quarter which was more than they made during three quarters of the game. It appeared to fans that the champs were waiting for this quarter to turn on the heat and here's what happened.

Joe Gossens and Chubby Vander Velden each had two buckets; LeMay and Hofkins each made three with Bowman having one in addition to charity shots by Bowman, LeMay and Chubby.

The Nicolet Grade school cagers scheduled to play Father Hiatt's Midcets in the preliminary failed to show up. In their place, the Holy Name squad defeated a pickup team, by a score of 32 to 12.

Expect Records To Fall During Big Ten Contest

Michigan and Wisconsin
To Battle for Track
Supremacy*BY EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO (7)—The 29th annual Big Ten track championship, promising a blistering team battle between Michigan and Wisconsin from which may come several new records, sent the cream of Western conference track stars into action tonight at the University of Chicago.

"Stop Michigan!" might well be the battle-cry of nine schools' representatives, for the Wolverines have won the title the past five seasons under Coach Charles Hoyt who resigned yesterday to accept a similar position at Yale.

Michigan's bid for another indoor crown will be built around two defending individual titlists, Elmer Gedeon and Bill Watson. Gedeon will be favored to retain his high hurdles championship, with Watson the choice to walk off with first place in the shot put.

Two years ago Watson, as a sophomore, set the conference shot mark of 50 feet, 4 inches. Gedeon won the hurdle honors last season in 8.6 seconds, a tenth of a second off the conference mark set by Lee Sentman of Illinois in 1930.

On the basis of performances in dual meet competition this season, Wisconsin should capture the mile run, has a toss-up chance at the two mile crown and should take the pole vault. Thus, the Badgers should give the well-balanced Michigan squad a tussle—and one of the most closely fought indoor meets in recent years may be the result.

Preliminary heats in the 60-yard dash, the high hurdles and the half mile, in addition to 440 yard dash finals were on tonight's program. Final championships will be decided Saturday night.

WRESTLING, FENCING

Chicago (7)—Michigan opened defense of its Western conference wrestling championship today at the University of Chicago.

The Wolverines were favored to repeat but Indiana, runner up last season, was expected to bid strongly for top honors. Only two Big Ten champions returned to defend their crowns—Don Nichols, Michigan 175 pounder, and Archie Deutschman of Illinois in the 135 pound class.

Chicago was favored to retain its fencing championship at the Big Ten meet which opens tomorrow at the Medinah Athletic club.

TANK COMPETITION

LaFayette, Ind. (7)—Michigan's Wolverines started a determined drive today to dethrone Ohio State, defending champion, in the 28th annual Big Ten swimming meet in the new Purdue university pool.

The teams, which tied twice in the dual meet season, appeared to be in the team title race by themselves. Although each of the other eight schools boasted outstanding individuals, none seemed strong enough to win the big championship. A wide-open fight for third place was in prospect.

Preliminaries in all events were on the program for this afternoon and tonight. The finals will be held tomorrow night.

Records in all events were threatened. Michigan's free-stylist, Captain Tom Egan, distances and Waldemar Tomski, sprinter, appeared capable of cracking marks in four events. Curley Stanhope, Ohio State's backstroke specialist, was out to shatter the 150-yard event. Ohio State's medley trio of Stanhope, Higgins and Quayle has been swimming faster than the 2:39.8 record set by Michigan in 1936.

Other towns reported interested in entering teams are Nichols, Freedom and Little Chute.

County Baseball Loop Will Meet

Circuit to be Organized at Session Monday Night
in Hortonville

Plans for the Outagamie County Baseball league will be launched at an organization meeting to be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening at Omholt's tavern in Hortonville. A meeting scheduled last week was postponed because of blocked roads.

Officers will be elected, franchise apportioned and committee appointed to draw up the schedule. The circuit is expected to go into action the first Sunday in May.

The loop operated as a 6-team circuit last season and may be expanded this season. Teams competing last year and expected to enter this season are Hortonville, Black Creek, Greenville, Grange, Dale, Shiocton and Greenville Merchants.

Other towns reported interested in entering teams are Nichols, Freedom and Little Chute.

CATCHER IS OPTIONED

New Orleans (7)—The Cleveland Indians yesterday optioned Henry H. "Hank" Heif, third-string catcher, to Buffalo of the International league. Heif planned to leave tomorrow for Plant City, Fla., with Steve O'Neill, Buffalo manager. Heif, a 6-foot Texan, was with Cleveland last year and Milwaukee in 1937.

BY RANDY HAASE

One shouldn't miss the Class B District tournament at Menasha for there have been more than enough thrills and upsets in the first two nights alone. Look at the scores: Menasha 27, West DePere 25; East DePere 24, New London 19; Waupaca 30, Kaukauna 20.

The Waupaca team showed the best shooting of the tournament in the second half of their tilt with Kaukauna, making 7 out of 20 shots. In the whole game they made 10 of 42 while the Kaws sank 7 of 36. New London made 15 of 67 while Clintonville made only three of 56. Menasha made 12 out of 57 while West DePere made 10 out of 58. Gay Goeper of the Nicolet News, Menasha High school newspaper, has statistics.

Ken DuCharme really came through in great style for Menasha Thursday night. The lad was on the spot for every one expected a lot of him. Then a group of poor sports kept riding the lad every time he laid hands on the ball. He played a cool, steady game just the same and came through with three nice baskets.

This tournament is the twentieth for Coach N. A. Calder. He participated in four while in school and this is his sixteenth as coach at Menasha High school. Reminiscing about his playing days Calder said that one of the teams he was on played seven games in one day at a tournament at Stevens Point. They lost the seventh game and so were out of the tournament.

The players came home on the Soo line train that pulls into Neenah around 2 a. m. No taxis or buses for the boys in those days. The players carried their luggage and hiked home. Calder lived on Winnebago avenue which is somewhat over a mile from the depot. He started hiking home but got about as far as Elm street when he was just too tired to go any farther. He set his luggage down, leaned against a board fence and the next thing he knew a passer-by was shaking him awake about 6 o'clock on his way to work.

The games scheduled for tonight should provide plenty more excitement. Kaukauna against West DePere in the consolation round and Menasha against Kaukauna against Waupaca in the championship flight.

Favor Bill Allowing 15-Round Pro Bouts

Madison (7)—Fifteen round professional boxing bouts, with the referee deciding the winner, received a boost today when the assembly committee on state affairs recommended passage of such legislation.

The committee reported favorably a bill by Assemblyman Palmer Daus (D.), Fort Atkinson, which eliminates a requirement that two judges assist the referee and extends the bout limit from 10 to 15 rounds.

Although it is commonly known that professional boxing interest in Wisconsin has been at low ebb for years, committee members expressed surprise at the reception given the bill at a public hearing. No one except the author appeared either for or against the measure.

Daus explained he sponsored the bill at the request of George W. Rankin, of Fort Atkinson.

MENASHA — Menasha High school cagers squeezed through with a 27 to 25 victory over West DePere's aggregation of long-shooting players and Waupaca handed Kaukauna a surprise 30 to 20 drubbing in first round games of the Menasha Class B District basketball tournament Thursday night. In the consolation round, New London rang up a 32 to 10 victory over Clintonville.

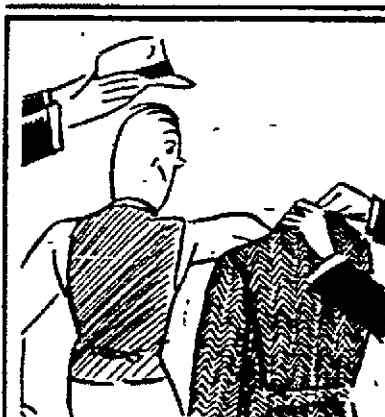

William Resch and Douglas Anderson got the baskets that counted for the Bluejays. The Jays coasted along on a dangerously narrow lead through the fourth quarter until C. VanSistine potted a long shot to give the Phantoms a 24 to 23 advantage. William Resch came right back with a shot that was even longer to give the Jays a one-point edge with a minute and a half to go.

Landcrum missed a free throw on Gerke's foul but Anderson went up to put the rebound through the hoop. Gerke closed the scoring with a free throw although West DePere did get control of the ball once more and Leo VanSistine fired a shot from beyond the center of the key.

Midwesters to Grunt, Splash

Conference Tank, Mat Meets Scheduled Here Saturday

LAWRENCE college isn't expected to collect many wrestling or swimming honors in the Midwest conference meet which will be staged at the Alexander gymnasium Saturday but these Vikings have a way of putting up a fight and won't let those honors get away without a struggle. If the truth must be known, however, Carleton is favored to retain its swimming championship and Carleton is expected to affirm its mat supremacy.

Preliminary swimming trials will get underway at 11 o'clock in the morning while the finals are scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Wrestling bouts will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. In the swimming contest, Carleton will be able to take plenty of first places but lacks men to take second and third spots, something which may swing the outcome to Beloit or Monmouth. Both of the latter schools have plenty of talent but also lack reserve power.

Sophomore Sensation Beloit is considered the strongest contender because of Davy Morton, sophomore who is the sensation of the conference, and Wilder, a dependable man. Bowen heads the Monmouth aggregation while Hirschfeld is the Carleton star and Brandt of Knox is no slouch.

Jack Brand, Hensch, Chadwick, Hahn, Mumler and Fink are expected to pull some points for Lawrence. Last year's results follow: Carleton, 52; Lawrence, 33; Monmouth, 16; Beloit, 5; (Knox was unable to attend because of an automobile accident on the way.)

Cornell college of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, one of the country's best wrestling schools, is expected to defend its conference title successfully. Last year the school won the Midwest meet with its third team, the first team being engaged at the University of Minnesota while the second team was wandering around in Iowa corn fields.

Blind Wrestler Misfortune struck at the team this year when it was involved in an auto accident while journeying to Minneapolis, one youth being killed and several others seriously injured. The team, however, has a wealth of reserve power to draw upon. Beloit probably is the strongest threat to Carleton's supremacy. Featured on the Blue and Gold team is Bill Brannon, 135-pound blind boy.

Showing for the Lawrence team, none too strong at best and weakened by the flu epidemic, will be Dick Roth, Joe Dassing, Vern Kramer, Chuck Hobbs, Sid Oltman, Johnny Beckman, Mel Heinke and Ken Olson. Last year's results: Cornell, 30; Beloit, 28; Lawrence, 17; Carleton, 6.

HILBERT—Kimberly Reserves and Elkhart Lake staged the most thrilling game in last night's tournament games at Hilbert with Elkhart Lake winning, 38 to 37, in two overtime periods. With the regulation game ending at 33-33, a bucket by Maersch, Lake guard, and two free throws by Schwanke of Kimberly, again left the score tied 33-33. In the second overtime period, Alberts of Kimberly jumped in a bucket, but Maersch tied the score at 37-37.

With 30 seconds left in the second overtime, Kissinger converted on a gift shot, to win for Elkhart Lake, 38 to 37.

Ciske Tavern of Menasha and Brown County Motors of Green Bay staged a fast game which Menasha capped, 29 to 26. The Taverners never were headed and led 5 to 4 in the first period, 15 to 10 in the second and 22 to 19 in the third.

Kaukauna Lumber company, won from Neenah Businessmen, 37 to 29, as Bob Boote, scored seven field goals and five free shots for nineteen points. The game was close for three periods only to have Kaukauna stage a spurt in the last period. Hilbert wallpated the Sheboygan Goldenrods, 60 to 37, and showed a powerful team with Shimon and Boldock pacing them. Sheboygan had a good team but couldn't match the veteran Hilbert squad.

Philandering Husband Is One To be Pitied, Miss Dix Says

BY DOROTHY DIX

We were discussing the unfaithful husband, which is a topic that is as old as the first marriage and as new as the last wedding. A woman who had a calm and philosophic face and weary eyes said:

"Every one sympathizes with the wife who has a philandering husband, but I think he is the one to be pitied. Take my case, for instance. As you all know, I am married to a woman-chaser, who is always in the midst of some messy love affair out of which he frequently extricates himself with the Irish and danger. He has lost my love, although I once adored him. His children are ashamed of him because they think he makes himself ridiculous by acting like a lovesick boy. Every one who knows him looks upon him with contempt, for fat, middle-aged Romeos are figures of fun instead of heroes of romance."

DOROTHY DIX "When he grows old he will come crawling back to me, but he will be an outsider in his own home, and there will be between us none of the love and faith and nearness that a husband and wife should have. So I say that I have the best of the bargain, because I have the devotion of my children, the respect of our friends and acquaintances and the solace of a clear conscience. Believe me, the philandering husband is more to be pitied than the forsaken wife. He throws away so much for so little."

True, of all of the losing trades that a man ever makes with the devil, the one in which he gets the worst end of the bargain is when he exchanges loyalty to his wife for extramarital love adventures.

Aside from all question of morality and honor and honesty and the sufferings that are inflicted upon an innocent victim, the man himself is sure to have to pay so high a price for his folly and is so certain to lose out in the end that it is a marvel that any one is stupid enough to make such an unequal trade.

For every one of us knows that the finest, cleanest happiness that ever comes to us lies in our domestic relationships. The poorest man who goes home at night, after his hard day's work, to a happy, cheerful, peaceful home has the thing that counts most in life. The millionaire whose home is a place of strife and bickering has nothing.

The man who has the devotion of a wife whose whole heart is bound up in him and who would stand by him through all the world turned away from him has the best gift that God can bestow. The man whose wife has ceased to love him has not even a broken reed upon which to lean in time of trouble. The man whose children are proud of him and look up to him and boast of him drinks the headiest brew of fame. The man whose children despise him and are ashamed of him sips gall and wormwood.

Every man knows these things. He knows the price he has to pay for philandering. He knows how men scoff at the armorous weaklings who fall for every petticoat that crosses their pathway, and how they ridicule the Sugar Daddies who still think they are romantic Romeos after they have only become meat tickets to gold diggers.

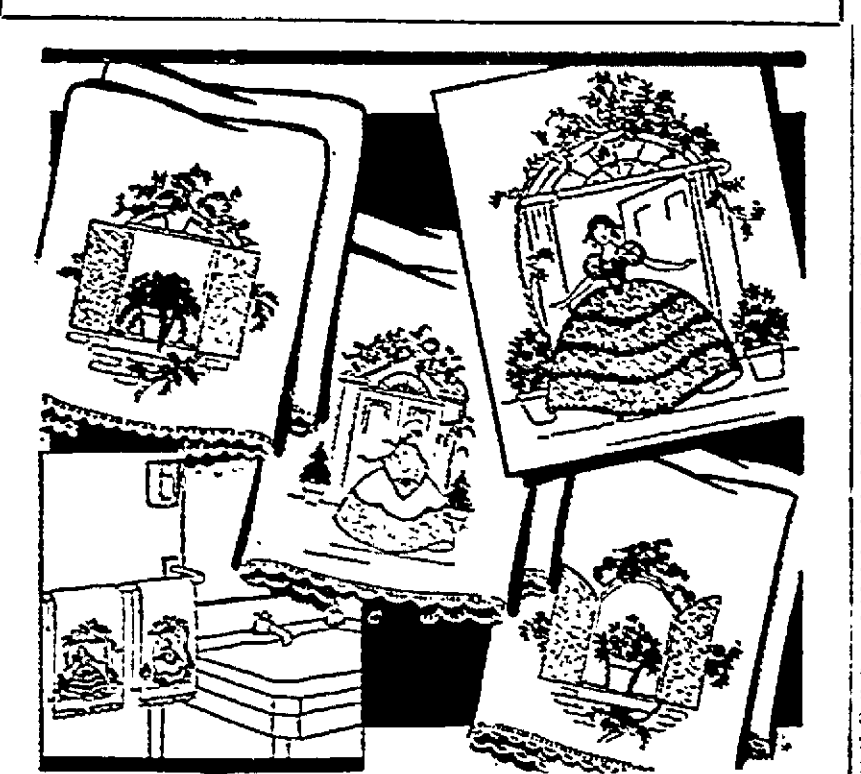

He knows that the philanderer lives in constant anxiety lest his hole-in-the-wall love affairs be discovered and he figure in a messy scandal and divorce suit, lose his home, his children and his prestige in his business or profession.

He knows that the philanderer breaks his wife's heart by his infidelities. That he tortures her with jealousy. That he kills her love for him and her faith in him. That he makes his home a place of tears and recriminations and reproaches and robs it of all happiness. That he lays his children's respect for him and makes them ashamed of the name they bear.

The philanderer knows that at last the time comes when every philanderer tires of the love chase, when he is too old and stiff to dance and boughten kisses have lost their flavor. He would like to return to the bosom of his family and be loved and cherished through his old age. But he finds a cold welcome. He has put out the fire on the hearstone with his own hands and he cannot blow the dead ashes into flame again. His wife has grown indifferent to him. He has no part in his children's lives.

And he is left a lonely old man who is merely tolerated by the family he has neglected. So you are right in saying that the philanderer

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Nothing is more distressing than to see a girl or woman obviously "painted" with rouge. Rouge should be applied delicately and artfully, for it is used only to enhance your natural cheek color.

A current woman's magazine states in an article about rouge: "The majority of women are disappointed about using rouge. Why? Is it because we take it so for granted that rouge is a flatterer that we just slap it on, hit or miss, in the naive assumption that anything that comes forth is, of necessity, becoming?"

The magazine's own answer to that is this: "We are so wrong that it is worth while to stop and analyze from the group up, exactly what rouge can do for us and why."

Some Rules Given

Use too little rouge rather than too much.

Always shade for a natural effect. Your rouge is vitally important. . . . It should be what your color naturally is when you are bright with excitement.

Apply your rouge in the cruellest, brightest light you can find. Never attempt to apply cream rouge on a powdered face.

Gentle patting with the fingertips is the best way to apply and blend rouge. Go over the edges lightly with tissue, just to make sure they disappear into your skin tone completely.

Do not apply rouge to a moist skin. Use cotton or a clean puff.

How to Select Rouge

One good way to match your own coloring with rouge is to pinch your cheeks to strong blush and then select a color which is similar in tone. This should be done in daylight for day rouge, under artificial light for night rouge.

Of course, one can vary the color of rouge one wears, if you are careful to have your lipstick match it. That is, if an off color rouge is flattering both to your skin and to your costume, wear it. But in such instances you must be very sparing with it.

Some skins take to powdered rouge better than to cream rouge.

Shocking for others to see, is the woman who over-rouges her cheeks and in wrong shade.

But even a lady with a dry skin can use a cream rouge successfully if she will first lubricate her cheeks slightly with cream or lotion before applying her rouge. Then she must blend it nicely, making it very faint around the edges.

One famous Hollywood expert suggests that you stretch your skin between two fingers as you put on your rouge, so even tiny crevices may be colored evenly.

Do remember, also, that rouge is not absolutely necessary. Young things in their early teens should not wear it excepting when they are very dressed up for a gala event. And many older girls look far more beautiful without added cheek coloring than with it!

Never rouge a blemished skin. Clear it first through the suggestions given in my leaflet "How to Cure a Blemished Skin." If you ask for it, enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Be sure to learn the valuable lesson which is contained in the discussion of Alicia's problem. Follow the motto of the aviators and be king of your failures instead of a slave thereto.

CASE M-171: Alicia B., aged 16, is interested in music. She has been studying the accordion, and appeared on a program at a sorority meeting where I gave a talk.

Midway of her first number she became so self-conscious and embarrassed that she began to strike the wrong notes. She blushed and finally tried to repeat a few measures.

But she grew more confused. Tears came to her eyes and she rushed from the room, failing to complete her number. Later I found type of party to be given and the guests expected.

Old Wedding Dress—New Veil?

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother's wedding dress was white and really very lovely, but mother wore no wedding veil when she was married. I would like to wear her dress for my wedding and wondered if it would be all right to wear it with a new veil. I thought perhaps some traditional feeling rather prevented combining the old and the new. Mother is a sentimental soul and I don't want to risk hurting her feelings by using her dress in anyway that could be considered contrary to good taste.

Answer: It will be entirely proper to wear a new veil with your mother's dress. In fact, it is almost unheard of for the bride to wear both the dress and the veil that her mother wore. Just as an old veil, which has been long in the family, is often worn by a new dress, a dress once worn by mother or other relative is worn with a new veil. A tulle veil especially would have to be replaced after having been laid away for some years.

Divorce Brings Wedding Problems

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a father and mother. They are divorced and each married again. I live half of the year with one set of parents and half of the year with the other. We are all friendly; I am equally fond of both parents and equally fond of my step-parents. It is the equal feeling that makes it difficult for me to know how to go about making my wedding arrangements, particularly in the matter of having my wedding announcements engraved. I realize the bad taste of having the names of divorced parents appear together on wedding terms, and I don't want to do that; but neither do I want to show partiality to one and hurt the feelings of the other. Would having two plates made—one with father's name and the other with mother's name—be an irregular thing to do and would you suggest doing this under the circumstances? Or perhaps you can offer a better suggestion.

Answer: The two plates would be quite practical for the announcements by simply dividing the lists and sending your mother's announcements to her family and friends, and your father's to his family and his own particular friends. Where their friends are mutual, it is best to send those engraved in your mother's name. If the two plates would be unreasonably expensive and you decide after all to have only one form made, then they should be engraved in the name of your mother because according to etiquette, the mother is given precedence over the father.

Right Start About Half Bridge Game

BY ELY CULBERTSON

"Getting on the right foot" is about half the battle in the average deal. I refer particularly to the play period, although, of course, it also is vital to choose one's first bid with care and foresight. But even a bad bid often can be corrected by extra shrewdness on later rounds, whereas a bad opening lead or a poorly calculated follow-suit may be irremediable.

Note the tremendous importance of the first trick in the following deal:

West dealer.
North-South vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

NORTH

♥ Q 5 2
♦ K 6 3
♣ A Q 6 5 4

WEST

♠ Q 6 3 2
♥ A 9 7 6
♦ A J
♣ 10 7 3

EAST

♠ J 9 8 7
♥ K 10 3
♦ Q 10 5
♣ K J 8

SOUTH

♠ K 10 5
♥ J 8 4
♦ 9 8 7 4 2

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 club	Pass	1 no trump
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

West, having passed originally and being nonvulnerable against vulnerable opponents, was correct in making his deferred take-out double of one no trump. Naturally, he hoped that partner would have enough to convert this to a penalty double by passing—this, of course, presupposing that the opponents would not run out. Incidentally, South's one no trump response was very bad. I would much prefer to pass rather than bid one no trump on a hand such as South held. One diamond would be excusable inasmuch as it would hold the bidding down and permit North to show a new suit at the one level.

Against one no trump doubled West chose to lead the six of hearts. Dummy played low and East, hoping that the leader had the ace and jack, played the ten spot. Declarer won and elected to go out after his own diamond suit instead of immediately attempting to establish clubs. At the second trick he led a low diamond toward the king. West, having only the A-J, hopped up and shifted to a low club. Dummy ducked and East's jack won. East returned the king and a low heart and West cashed the ace and nine spot. He led another club. Dummy's queen was put in and lost to East's king. East returned a spade. Dummy won and rattled off three club tricks. The king of diamonds and the king of spades gave declarer his contract.

Although I cannot deny for a moment that East's first play was tempting, I am inclined to think that going up with the heart king would have been more farsighted. At any rate, it would have made a tremendous difference. After winning with the heart king the natural return would have been a spade. Now South never could have entered his hand twice for the possible establishment of the diamond suit. Dummy's spade ace would win and declarer's best chance would be to lead a low club from the A-Q. East would hop up and return another spade. Declarer would win and very probably attempt the establishment of the club suit through the finessing of the queen. East would win and would continue with spades. On the defenders' two spade tricks the dummy would be hard pressed for discards and declarer probably would choose to hold the established clubs and let go a heart and a diamond. But whatever his choice, the defenders would have to take two spades, two hearts, two clubs, and at least one diamond.

The entire point of this hand was that the declarer had to be held to one entry. An original spade opening would have had that effect, but, since West did choose (and who can blame him) to open a heart, the success or failure of the double rested largely on East's first play.

St. Patrick's Day Luncheon

St. Patrick's day and all its possibilities for entertaining will soon be here again. St. Patrick's day parties are gaily informal, infected with the spirit of the Irish people, who have a reputation for laughter and good cheer. Because of this informality, such parties are easy to plan and fun to give. Everyone is a loyal "Irishman" on St. Patrick's day, or at least a friend of Ireland. It may be the pretty decorations available for parties for St. Patrick's day have some influence up on its popularity with hostesses who entertain.

Truly the table set for the St. Patrick's party is like a breath of a fresh and pretty spring morn.

I suggest the St. Patrick's day luncheon given below, with its green color note.

Spinach Soup	1 1/2 cups raw
Olives	celery curls
Buttered Green Asparagus	1 cup raw
Tall Hat Salad	chopped spinach
Cloverleaf Rolls	1 cup hot water
Pineapple Sherbet	or meat stock
Angel Cup Cakes	1 teaspoon celery salt
Spinach Soup	1 cup sugar

Make a white sauce of butter, flour, and milk, add whole onion. Place in double boiler and cook without stirring 15 minutes. Remove the onion and beat sauce with a rotary egg beater until smooth. Put spinach through the food chopper, using fine blade, add to sauce with hot water or meat stock. Season with salt and celery salt. Do not boil, but heat thoroughly, keeping covered for 5 minutes. Serve hot. Add a spoonful of whipped cream and a sprinkle of chopped parsley to each cup of soup. Serves 6.

Tall Hat Salad

1 package lime 2 cups mixed	1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water	1 cup cold water
1 cup cold water	1 cup cold water
1 cup cold water	1 cup cold water
1 cup cold water	1 cup cold water
1 cup cold water	1 cup cold water
1 cup cold water	1 cup cold water
1 cup cold water	1 cup cold water
1 cup cold water	1 cup cold water
1 cup cold water	1 cup cold water

Dissolve jello in boiling water. Add cold water and a little green coloring to make the jello emerald green. Chill and when partially set add the mixed fruit. Pour into tall narrow cups to make it look like tall hats. Chill. Unmold using a ring of green pepper for the rim of the hat. Serve with creamy salad dressing.

Angel Cup Cakes

1 cup milk	1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons butter	1 cup cake flour
4 egg whites	1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar	1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar

Heat milk with butter slowly to scalding point. Beat egg whites until frothy, add cream tartar and continue beating until whites will hold a point when whip is pulled out. Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Beat hot milk and butter with sugar. Add flour mixture to milk and sugar and beat well. Fold egg whites into this mixture and fold in flavoring. Pour into well greased and floured 9-inch square pan or into muffin cups. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. When cake is cold, cut into squares, oblongs and diamonds. Brush cut sides of each little cake with egg white. Set aside to become dry before frosting. Ice with white icing and place little green St. Patrick's Day candies, shamrocks, tall hats, harps, etc. on top.

Leave Active Children Alone To Have Their Fun, Patri Says

BY ANGELO PATRI

Shouts, giggles, stamping of feet, thumpings, scramblings, laughter and the sound of the front door opening. The children home from school bringing, as usual, four or five others along.

"Ma, here we are. Something for us to eat? We're hungry as a pack of wolves. We had fun today. Miss Marie let us make up a game and it was lots of fun. Hurry up, Ma, we're going to the attic to play and make up a club—if it's all right with you?"

It is all right with Ma, and the youngsters, all about eleven or twelve, boys and girls, eat their sandwiches and hurry up the stairs, all talking at once.

"Now what should I do?" asks Ma. "Try to give them a program, supervise their games, try to organize them and their play? They change from one thing to another so fast. Now a club, but the club won't be formed, most likely. They'll be off on another track before they come downstairs again. What's best to do with them?"

Leave them alone. It is great good luck for them to have the attic, to have the home that welcomes other children, to have the kind of Ma that smiles on the noisy crew and sends them off to a happy hour of association and fun.

Children of this age are only beginning to organize their thinking. It is only a number of months that they have been able to organize their thoughts sufficiently to put them into sentences. They are groping now toward organized play, team work, social cooperation. We cannot hurry that, and no good would come of it if we did. That sort of association, that sort of togetherness, with definite aims and concentrated effort, belongs in the years ahead. Just now they talk a great deal, make many gestures, many starts, without arriving at any definite end. They are making their growth. Give them time and opportunity for that.

Well-meaning parents and teachers sometimes take such groups in hand and make them do some definite bit of work such as putting on a benefit show, holding a series of meetings with a definite program of educational worth, taking over some community project. When that is done the children are subjected to a training process, but they have not of themselves, arrived at any definite standard of growth. They have yielded themselves to the teacher, or the leader, for the time being. They will go back—they must go back—to where their own selves are still standing and carry them on, under their own power.

This looks wasteful, and disorderly, and childish, to the anxious grown-up, but it is the natural way and the only way, of growth. We can train and discipline growth after it has been achieved, but we cannot make growth. That is the child's own privilege and responsibility, granted and imposed upon him by a wise and watchful Providence.

Give the between-age children a good background; feed them well; encourage them to play and work and live happily together and by and by they will be quite as orderly, quite as serious, as you could wish them to be. Childhood is sacred. Its period is all too brief. Let it be.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers of the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Yesterday: The Mallones spend Christmas in Alexandria as guests of Michael, who wants to marry Petrel.

Chapter 24
Cairo
Petronella stood beside the window of the flat in Alexandria. The room was in darkness except for the small lamp on the desk. Its light caught the sheen of her satin evening dress. It shone like a sheath of rich beauty. Shaded lighting could do much, she thought, to make a dress which was tried, old and old, look lustreous and new. It made you look younger, if you were getting old, fresh, if you had danced too long, and too often, and were tired. This trick had been new when she came to Alexandria. Now, two weeks later, though it was to be listed among her "useful" tricks, it had seen its life.

Not far out, at sea, were the lanterns of the fishing boats; they formed a twinkling circle as they closed in upon their nets. Those were the headlights of Mike's car, now, coming along the road soon, she would be dancing under the moonlight with her returned lieutenant, Jim Blake, serious, flag-lieutenant, Andrew, the little surgeon, the charming, impersonal Captain. She would be dancing

"In heaven's name, why ask for misery?" he groaned. "Why should love cause you pain? Woman! Stop talking!"

He kissed her. Was it possible that he was right? Had she held the wrong conception of love for a long time? Was this all?

She disengaged herself. "Let me cross that frontier."

"This time you'll come back!" He was very triumphant and sure. Other women had rendered Michael quite certain of his attraction. If only he were right, wished Petrel. She did not want to go. She wished that he would forbid her, keep her here, against her will, until her will was gone. But he knew her.

"You released, were awfully odd in some ways, darling. Very young, and immature, if you'll forgive my saying so. You take life so seriously."

"Someone once said life was a comedy to those who think, tragedy to those that feel. I can't help feeling."

"But do you really believe in spiritual love? Petrel, half the couples who marry don't feel that about each other. They take a chance. Sometimes it goes well."

Education Must Aid Personality, Rotarians Told

Children Should be Trained to Adjust Themselves to Reality

Neenah — C. F. Hedges, Neenah superintendent of schools, said that one of the functions of education is to train children to acquire integrated personalities so that they can adjust themselves to reality in a task at the noon meeting of the Rotary club Thursday at the Valley Inn.

Personality is one of the most important things in the lives of people, whether they are doctors, lawyers, teachers or businessmen, the superintendent pointed out, and he quoted a well known authority on the subject, "If you are unhappy, can't find a job or want a divorce, blame your personality."

"When we think of the great men in history, such as Lincoln, Washington, Napoleon or Mark Twain, we don't think of their achievements but their personalities clash across our minds," the educator said. "The most precious right of a child is to guard his personality."

Adjustment Vital

Contending that there is no accurate definition of personality and that we don't even know what it is, Hedges said that the important thing is to adjust our personality to reality. Some educators and psychologists claim that personality is a combination of all our characteristics, while others say it is the ability to fit in, and still others say it is the outward expression of what is inside, and some claim that it is the integrated total of characteristics and traits we possess.

Education and personality is not fixed or static and is being influenced by situations, there is no accurate definition of defining it. Besides, there is no agreement as to the traits involved, the traits themselves are complex and there is no set standard by which to measure personality.

Hedges pointed out that when interviewing prospective teachers, one of the essential things we look for is personality.

Some Plans False

The educator pointed out that such plans as determining personality of a person's voice, eyes, ears or the shape of their head also are fallacious, for "there is very little scientific evidence revealed by physical traits."

He pointed out that it is possible to have two personalities, one for different situations. We acquire personality by the trial and error method from childhood. Hedges concluded his talk by saying that the true principles to use are "loyalty, honor, fairness and truth."

Receive Trophies For Cage Tourney

St. Mary School Will be Host to Eighth Annual Catholic Meet

Neenah — Trophies for the annual Catholic grade school basketball tournament have been received by the Rev. Joseph A. Becker, principal of St. Mary High school and tournament manager. The awards will include trophies for the championship team as well as cups for the second and third place winners.

A sportsmanship trophy will be awarded to the team which displays the best sportsmanship in the judgment of the tournament officials. The most valuable player also will receive an award while five medals will be awarded to members of all-tournament team. Some other small prizes also may be awarded.

Invitations to participate in the tournament were sent to 80 schools of the Green Bay diocese Thursday. The tournament is scheduled to open Friday, March 31. The meet will run three days but if more than 25 teams enter it may be necessary to run the tournament four days.

The tournament this year will be the eighth annual one and the fourth successive year that it has been held at St. Mary's gymnasium. The St. Mary school is the only one that has won the tournament two times. Last year the St. Mary of Appleton team won the championship but this year it has failed to win any games in the Catholic Boy conference.

The Holy Name of Kimberly team undoubtedly will be established as one of the favorites for it has dropped only one decision in more than 20 games. The Shamrocks of St. Patrick's parish of Menasha have only two defeats against their record and also should be one of the strong tournament teams.

Menasha Students in Cage Pop Rally Today

The cheer leaders led the student body in practice cheers and the pep band under the direction of L. E. Kraft played several selections. # Nurse Urges Care To Prevent Colds

Mrs. Dudley Outlines Procedure to Follow When Symptoms Develop

Menasha — Mrs. Sigrid Dudley, school health instructor, today issued a warning on the dangers accompanying a cold. Quite a few children are being kept out of school with colds and Mrs. Dudley urged all parents to cooperate in keeping those children with colds away from classes in order to prevent spread of the germs.

The early signs of a cold often are similar to the early signs of more serious contagious diseases such as influenza, measles, scarlet fever and whooping cough, the nurse warned. As colds too often are made light of, a more serious illness, which at first seems to be only a cold, may be neglected at the very time when it is most contagious and when care would do the most good.

The health instructor also warned that long-continued colds may pave the way for an attack of pneumonia, tuberculosis or chronic infection of the nose, throat or ears. To keep from catching a cold, she advised healthy persons to stay as far away as possible from people who cough or sneeze carelessly or who seem to have a cold. She also warned against the dangers of handling articles handled by persons with a cold.

Early proper treatment of colds will head off much sickness and loss of time, the nurse said. At the first sign of a cold, a person should rest in bed if possible, particularly if he feels weak, for weakness may be a sign of influenza.

"Drink plenty of water, fruit juices and other liquids and eat lightly of simple, nourishing foods," the nurse advised. A hot bath followed by a hot lemonade and then covering up in bed with extra blankets may be helpful. In order to protect others from your cold, cough or sneeze into a handkerchief which should be boiled to kill germs before it is washed. Dishes, including drinking glasses, used by a person with a cold should be scalded thoroughly after use and washed with soap and hot water.

Highway 41 Must Skirt Oshkosh

State Department Engineer Tells Board It Can't Rescind Action

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—The Winnebago county board found out yesterday afternoon that it could not rescind an earlier action approving the relocation of Highway 41 around Oshkosh. A resolution asking reconsideration of the problem opened the discussion.

L. A. Empey, state highway department engineer, informed the board that another public hearing would be necessary before the board could rescind its earlier action.

Empey stated that the board's approval of the relocation last December took the present Highway 41 route off a permanent basis and relocated the highway on the route suggested at that time. He explained that for the board to move the highway back to the present route, it would be necessary to conduct a public hearing under the state law.

The board decided to defer the problem until the May session of the board. Action also was deferred on a resolution calling for salary increases for certain county employees. Radio operators according to the resolution, would have received a raise from $1,080 to $1,200 per year.

Disposal Plant Shows Increase in Retention Of Solids in February

Menasha—Solids retained by the Neenah-Menasha sewage disposal plant showed an increase in February in comparison with the preceding month although total pumpage figures were lower, according to J. M. Holderby, plant superintendent.

During February 486,000 pounds of solid matter were removed from the 133 million gallons of sewage pumped. During January the plant pumped 181 million gallons of sewage and removed 430,500 pounds of solids. Mr. Holderby explained that the flow was not as heavy in February because there was less thawing than in January. When the sewage is not forced through the plant so rapidly the sedimentation process is able to operate more completely.

The maximum pumpage in one day in February was 65 million gallons while in January it was 11.6 million gallons.

Follow-the-Leader Driver Is One of Highway's Annoyances

The second in the series of pet traffic peeve letters, dealing with the fellow who likes to stick right behind you mile after mile, appears in today's Post-Crescent.

The newspaper is awaiting more letters from readers on the bad driving habits that irritate them the most. Each letter should deal with just one peeve and not exceed 400 words in length. The Post-Crescent pays $1 for each printed.

"Gentlemen: You bet—I've got a pet traffic-peeve—it's a certain type of road-hog who likes to play follow-the-leader on the highway. He will pick you up most anywhere and then stick to your tail for miles and miles, never more than 50 or 75 feet behind. I had one of his ilk tag me for more than 200 miles between Indianapolis and St. Louis some years ago. If I drove 50 miles per hour, so did he; if I slowed to 15 miles, he still stayed behind.

"At night this type of road-hog is really dangerous, because of the constant glare of his headlights behind your own car, for of course he wouldn't dim them. Such a follow-up has happened to me any number of times coming home from Appleton in the past three or four years.

"But I have finally evolved a safe way to shake 'em off. In a clear stretch of highway, I simply take my foot off the throttle, permitting my speed to gradually die down—to a dead stop, if necessary. Mr. Road-hog does the same, until it dawns on him what he has been let in for, and then he beats past me, often with a scowl on his face. And then I can go my way in peace again."

Oceans and Ocean Life

V—SPONGES

If you could take a living sponge from the ocean, and place it in a tank of water, you might make an interesting test. Using some red powder to give a certain amount of coloring to the water, you could watch the sponge "eat."

Part of a crumb-o-bread sponge. Arrows show motion of water. (After Pycraft.)

You might see no other living thing than the sponge in your tank, but still there would be animals in the water, animals so tiny that you would need a microscope to watch them. The sponge knows how to make use of such small food.

With the help of the red coloring, you could observe motion of the water as it passed into the body of the sponge through extremely small openings. At the same time you would notice jets of water coming out of larger openings. The water which comes out is "waste"—the sponge has taken from it what is needed for food, and also has taken out oxygen.

In times past, people used to think of sponges as plants, but they really are low forms of animal life. Their bodies are fastened to the sea bottom, to rocks and to shells. Sponges are found in almost all parts of the oceans so far explored by men. They can live at great depths, as well as near the surface. They seem to prefer tropical waters, but great numbers are found in seas of the temperate zone.

What we may call "a sponge" is likely to be a colony of sponges. The animals gather in groups, and their bodies grow together. In a sense, we may say that many of them become one.

Baby sponges are born from "buds" in the bodies of the parents. When they break free, they swim about for a few days. Then, like the sea anemones, they find a place to rest.

There are many kinds of sponges. Different kinds have been compared in shape to fans, cups, baskets and low bushes. Some do not grow to a height of more than an inch. Others rise from three to four feet above the place they are fixed.

Living sponges may be brown, black or green, red, yellow, gray, blue or purple. Some have hard skeletons, but the skeletons of others are soft and silky.

Sponges with soft and silky skeletons have been popular in bathtubs. Millions of them have been brought up by divers and other "sponge fishermen." When brought to the surface, they are not pleasing to the eye, but they are beaten, washed and dried before being taken to market, and then look well enough.

Bath sponges are not in such wide use nowadays as in past years, but they often are employed for washing automobile. Most sponges with "soft and silky" skeletons have been obtained in the Red Sea, the Mediterranean, and off the coasts of Florida.

Utilities Lead in Transactions on Share Exchange

Steels and Motors Move Within Narrow Range In New York

Compiled by the Associated Press

Table with 2 columns: Stock Name, Price. Includes utilities like Edison, Duquesne, and steel stocks like Bethlehem Steel.

New York—(P)—Speculative strength in utilities and specialties gave the stock market a brighter look today although many issues in other departments failed to make much of a showing.

While minus signs were fairly well distributed at the close, gains were plentiful.

After an active forenoon, volume inclined to dwindle. Transfers for the five hours approximately 1,200,000 shares.

Steels and motors were narrow. U. S. Steel reported February shipments of finished products were off 111,311 tons from January but were 208,271 tons greater than in the same 1938 month. This week's automotive output was estimated up some 6,000 units from the previous week, a more-than-seasonal increase.

Heavy buying of textiles in New York's Wall Street—the turnover was the largest for any day this year—was seen as a highly optimistic indicator.

Bonds were still in demand, with South American loans putting on a burst of strength. Commodities were quiet. Foreign markets were able to retain most of their recent gains.

Wheat at Chicago was unchanged to up 1/4 of a cent a bushel and corn 1/2 better. Cotton, in late transactions, was up 5 to 25 cents a bale. Sterling and the French franc, near mid-afternoon, were a shade up. The former at $4.69 and the latter at 2.65 1/2 cents.

O.E.S. Inspection Is Scheduled for April 12

Waupaca—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, Iowa, worthy patron and worthy matron of the Eastern Star, were unable to attend the regular meeting Wednesday evening, because both were ill. Substituting in their chairs were Mrs. Walter Wildfang and Roy Holly. Inspection of the chapter was announced for April 12.

Mrs. James Jensen entertained members of the S. L. B. club at her home Wednesday evening at a "bad taste party." Each member had been previously invited to come dressed in bad taste and the prize for such costume was won by Mrs. Lucy Doerflinger. Honors at bridge, which followed the social hour, were won by Miss Caroline Eckert and Mrs. Claude Johnson. Guests in addition to club members were Mrs. A. Hansen, Mrs. Claude Johnson and Mrs. Ralph Moses.

Mrs. Irving Hansen entertained members of the Sewing club at her home Wednesday afternoon. Covers for the luncheon were laid for Messrs. Paul Williams, Walter Nelson, H. L. Lewis, W. G. Rudersdorf, Florence Ostrom and Harry Rawson. The Women's Relief Corps workers met with Mrs. Maurice Behnke Thursday afternoon. Mrs. F. F. Darling and Mrs. Roy Rasmussen were co-hostesses at the waffle supper which followed the afternoon's work.

DANGEROUS SERVICE

by GRACE ELLIOTT TAYLOR

sometimes poorly. If it's unbearable, they pack it up. That is the adult way to regard love. With us, I believe it would go well. And you're wonderful, Petrel. You have so much. Do you realize that?"

"International Young Woman" "I feel I have very, very little. Just a prospect for being useful and common sense." His hand across her mouth silenced her. "No! And you're sometimes beautiful. You can go anywhere, talk to anybody. You're an international young woman."

"That doesn't sound decent." She laughed. But she listed on her fingers: "A dictator, an Archbishop, a deposed monarch, an admiral, and Communists, Fascists, anarchists, poets, racists, film stars and missionaries—I've met, or sat next to them all at dinner. But, perhaps, you're right, Michael. Experience doesn't necessarily bring maturity."

"But, Petrel—" "We must go; you've spoilt my face, and we're missing the party."

"This time tomorrow, it won't be here to spoil. What a horrible thought."

"I think I know several other faces that will be pleased to remedy the deficiency. They haven't been looking very friendly."

"They don't count."

But even while he kissed her, she knew that they would count again, when she was gone. If she did not return. Michael did not understand love which persisted, even when you wanted to be free. Love, like that single, relentless love of hers, which could cross all frontiers, and be with her still.

From immediately overhead, in the tearing blue of heaven, the sun beat down upon the hot, glaring pavement of Cairo. It was mid-day. The shaded balconies and lounges of "Shepherds" and the "Continental Hotel" were full of Europeans wearing light suits, and drinking long drinks. The jingle of the two-horsed gharries which passed alongside the large square, with its gray astute, intermingled with the clinking of ice in their glasses. Both water, lot and the other sounds of Cairo. Street hawkers cried their trashy merchandise as they passed, laden with Eastern carpets silks or beads.

In the distance, if all other sounds had ceased suddenly, could have been heard another, uglier burble. In a mean street, the followers of Naha's Pasha had stood listening to an impassioned speaker. Many of them were students, wild young rowdies, armed with sticks and bricks. Now, worked up to a frenzy of excitement and resentment, they turned. In a shout, joining, throng they rushed towards the main thoroughfare. There, they would overthrow more trolley cars, uproot more lamp-posts, break more British windows. "Down with Sir Samuel Hoare! Down with Sir Samuel Hoare! Freedom for Egypt!" were their indistinguishable cries.

This was a day in November of 1935. Sir Samuel Hoare's reply to the Ward's demand for a return to the 1923 treaty, mercilessly modfied by Sidky Pasha, seven years later, had just been published. It appeared in many Egyptian papers and leaflets, in a much twisted version. The mob were not satisfied with such apparently vague promises from the British government. They did not care to look forward to "settlement at a more opportune moment." When, for example, Mussolini's transports had, ceased crowding through the canal at Eritrea. They would continue to demonstrate more violently than ever, until their problem received attention and was solved.

"Love Of A Lady" But because the police in Cairo, mounted on their white Arab horses, are some of the finest in the world, the British could continue drinking and playing. Gently, the white horses stepped, sideways, pushing, coxing, and stemming the angry crowd.

Standing in the shelter of a doorway, an Englishman stood watching them, admiringly. "Good work!" he commented aloud. He had thoughtful eyes, and long strong features. He was very brown. Gath-ering that the agitation in this quarter of the town was under control, he turned. He, and his foreshortened shadow strode in the direction of the Continental Hotel. But a smile came to Tony Lance's lips because of the white-robed, slippered little Arab who detached himself from an adjoining wall, and shuffled after him.

He thought: "Darn them! All ready! They know everything." He had been there only twelve hours, yet he was being watched. It was an inconvenience to which he was accustomed.

As he entered the lounge of his hotel with its chattering mid-day crowd, its red leather and chromium modernity, he heard a voice call to him:

HEAD CAST OF FILM AT ELITE

The vivacious, bubbling story of a small-town girl who comes to New York to seek the man who left her waiting at the altar, only to find herself involved as the romantic pivot between two other men, brings Janet Gaynor, Robert Montgomery and Franchot Tone to the Elite screen today. In "Three Loves Has Nancy," their first co-starring picture, a laugh-filled supporting cast features Guy Kibbee, Claire Dodd and Reginald Owen.

"Hi, there, Tony!" "Why, Mike, this is fine." "Where have you sprung from?" "Same old dark horse, eh? Come and have a drink. Either they mix them well here, or Cairo gives me a better thirst than Alexandria." "I might as well ask you the same question. Why are you here?" "Business for H.E., and the love of a lady." "I see." "You do not," Michael responded gloomily. "What'll you have?" He ordered their drinks. "No, I was a fool to come, and I'm leaving soon. Wish I'd done the whole business over the telephone." "I'd like to see the girl who can cast you into such despondence. You look almost sober." "Trouble is that when I tell myself there are plenty of others it doesn't work. There aren't any like her." Tony laughed at him. "I should like to see this unique—" Tony stopped. He was staring. But Michael had not noticed.

"Talk of an angel—there she is—just coming in, through the door, with her hat in her hand! Looks as if she were in a hurry, so I won't stop her. News for the gang, by the look of her. In a minute, you'll see them all come tumbling out of the elevator. She's a very well-known young woman. You've probably heard of her; heard some of the legends about her. Petrel Malone?"

Tony Lance answered casually. "I don't think so. What kind of legends?"

Tomorrow: Petrel and Tony.

Indications early in 1939 were that July and August would see the world carry-over of wheat and cotton reach new high marks — wheat, 1,200,000,000 bushels and cotton, 25,000,000 bales.
